3 escaped convicts still elude authorities

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Three revenge-bound escaped convicts who swept through Colorado, New Mexico and Texas killing, raping and robbing hid out today from a small army of officers in this rugged ranch country.

"There really is not much we can do but maintain our road blocks and roving patrols in hopes of flushing them out," said Capt. G. W. Burks of the Texas Rangers, who was coordinating the manhunt.

Authorities blamed the three for two murders, two rapes and several robberies since they escaped from a Colorado prison.

Officers believed the three were hiding in an area about five square miles northwest of Stephenville. The men last were sighted there about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The area is rugged ranch country cut up by gullies and marked by thick mesquite brush. Half the 18,000 residents of Erath County reside in Stephenville.

"The area is just impossible to comb, even on horseback," said Burks.

Bloodhounds were brought in but Burks said the trail was too cold for the dogs to follow. Rain and wind also obliterated any scent.

Burks said the escapees could live off wild game indefinitely.

Ranch and farm families in the target area had been evacuated.

Authorities said the three shot and killed two persons who testified against some of them at previous trials.

Earlier, Erath County Dist. Atty. Bob Glascow had labeled the convicts as "dangerous dudes."

"We're sure they came to Texas for revenge and vengeance."

By Sunday evening, more than 200 armed officers began to tighten a circle north of this Central Texas town in search of the three Colorado state prison escapees who traveled farm roads from the plains of West Texas 130 miles east to Stephenville.

"We are still assuming that they are in the area," Glascow said. He said authorities had evacuated 12 or 15 farms in the area.

The three who escaped Thursday night were wanted in connection with the shooting deaths Saturday of rancher T. L. Baker and Mrs. Ray Ott. Authorities said both victims had testified against two of the convicts in previous burglary cases. Colorado prison officials said one of the convicts had sworn to kill a number of persons involved in court cases that sent him to prison.

The three were identified as Jerry Ulmer, 22, convicted of burglary; Dalton Williams, 29, serving a 40-to-60 year term for robbery, conspiracy and assault, and Richard Mangum, 22, serving three to five years for car theft.

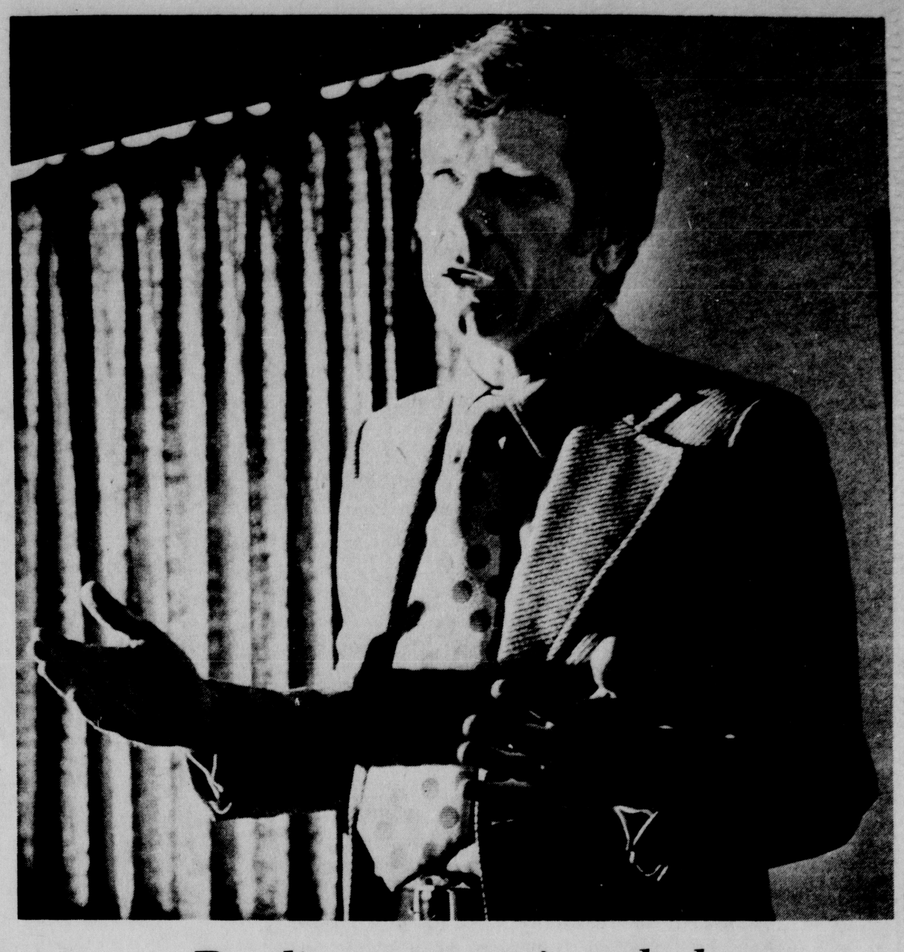

Authorities said rancher Baker had testified at Williams' burglary trial, saying the man burglarized his home and stole several guns. Mrs. Ott had testified in a trial in which Ulmer was convicted of burglarizing the Ott home.

Baker was shot Saturday at his ranch. Mrs. Ott was gunned down later in the day at her home.

"They had to be looking for that house," Glascow said of the Ott residence. "It is isolated and off the highway. It's not the kind of place you would stumble across."

Authorities said the trio abducted and raped two women in New Mexico and released them in Texas. Their path across Texas was marked with four more house burglaries, the shooting up of a truck stop and a running gun battle with police.

The three were believed to be on foot after stealing four cars, the latest of which was found abandoned 2 miles north of here early Sunday.

Burlison promises help

Tenth District Rep. Bill Burlison promised area residents Saturday to help in any way he can to secure an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road. Burlison spoke to about 20 people Saturday at Ramada Inn.

3 killed, 28 injured in weekend accidents

Three persons were killed and 28 injured, four seriously, in 14 area traffic accidents reported over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Herschel McAlister Jr., 27, of Shook, was killed at 1:30 a.m. Saturday five miles east of Greenville on Route E when he lost control of his car, which ran off the road, came back across the road and struck an embankment, then became air-borne and struck several trees, throwing the driver from the vehicle.

The body was taken to Gish- Bowles- Coder Funeral Home in Piedmont.

Samuel Hopkins, 23, of Greenville was killed at 3 a.m. Sunday when his car ran off the road and struck a tree on Route T one mile south of Lowndes. He was partially thrown from the vehicle.

His body also was taken to Gish- Bowles- Coder Funeral Home in Piedmont.

Susan Muller, 20, of Mehlville, died at 10:20 a.m. Sunday in St. Joseph Hospital at Kirkwood as a result of injuries received in an accident at 3:15 a.m. Sunday on Interstate 55 four miles north of Brewer.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Jack Muller, 49, of Mehlville, was struck from behind in heavy fog by a car driven by John Walker, 25, of St. Louis.

The impact caused the Muller car to turn over and come to rest on its left side, the highway patrol reported.

In addition to the fatal injuries received by Miss Muller, Muller suffered critical injuries, Mary Ann Muller, 15, received serious injuries and Victorine Muller, 44, and Jack Muller Jr., 5, sustained minor injuries. All were taken to Perry County Hospital and later transferred to St. Joseph Hospital in Kirkwood.

Orville Grisson, 43, of Charleston, was seriously injured at 3:05 a.m. Sunday when he failed to stop his car at a stop sign at the junction of Highways 62 and 153 at the eastern edge of Risco.

The car ran off the road and struck an embankment. He was taken to Sikeston Hospital.

Michael Lee Smith, 8, of Fredericktown, suffered severe leg injuries at 6:25 p.m. Sunday on Highway 67 six miles south of Fredericktown when his bicycle was struck by a car driven by James Alexander, 37, of Fredericktown.

Shooting death ruled suicide by coroner

EAST PRAIRIE — The death of Luchen Lee Banks, 44, of Des Plains, Ill. has been ruled a suicide by Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle.

Banks, who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luchen Henry Banks, shot himself once with a .22 caliber pistol about 5:30 a.m. Sunday at his parents home in house 32 in the housing project, Route 2.

McMikle said today the body was found in bed by Banks' wife and the pistol was lying on the floor near the bed. No apparent reason for the suicide has been established. McMikle said there would be neither an autopsy nor an inquest.

Banks was born Oct. 22, 1929 in Mississippi County and had lived in Des Plains, Ill. for 24 years. He had been employed by Capital Ambulance Service in Chicago, for 17 years.

On Oct. 28, 1950 he married Virginia Moreno who survives.

In addition to his parents and widow he is survived by four sons, Stephen Robert Banks, Richard Anthony Banks, Robert James Banks, and Keven Walter Banks, all of the home; one sister, Mrs. Jesse Jones of Chicago, and one granddaughter.

Friends may call after 5 p.m. today at the Shelby funeral home where services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Ted

Mechanical failure is ruled out

KANSAS CITY — The National Aviation Board is continuing its investigation into the Friday afternoon crash that killed Charles Thomas Proffer of Matthews and Roy Pipkin of Kewanee when the Cesna 150, two passenger, plane they were riding in crashed near New Madrid.

"We haven't gotten all our reports in yet," Edward Lilie of the National Aviation Safety Board office here, said today. "Our on-the- scene investigation did reveal that the plane did not crash because of mechanical failure."

Authorities reported that the plane had been rented from Perry Jolliff, who operates a flight instruction school at the Sikeston airport.

A complete report on the crash will be made from the Federal Aviation Authority in Washington, D. C. in two to three weeks Lillie claimed. He said authorities are checking their files to determine if either of the men was a licensed pilot.

Proffer was reported to have been piloting the plane when it crashed.

Response expected soon to interchange proposal

Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison told a group of area residents Saturday that he expects the Secretary of Transportation to respond soon to a proposal for an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat spoke to about 20 people Saturday morning at Ramada Inn.

A group of area residents are working through the Chamber of Commerce to obtain an interchange to open the north Sikeston area to industrial and residential use.

The interchange would also relieve the heavy traffic flow and reduce accidents along East Malone Avenue. An information packet, compiled by the chamber for area representatives in Washington, says that between Aug. 1, 1973, and July 31 of this year, 201 accidents were recorded on East Malone Avenue.

The congressman said he wrote to the Secretary of Transportation three or four weeks ago and has received a reply saying the department is studying the proposal.

The first step is to convince the Missouri Highway Commission, which must approve the interchange before the plan goes to Washington, Burlison said.

The federal government seldom overrules the state commission if the commission rejects a highway proposal, he stressed.

"I personally think there is a great need for your project," Burlison asserted.

Burlison promised to help the city any way he could, but he said it would not be an easy, overnight project.

The city will have to make its own case, Burlison said, and work to convince the agencies which must approve the project.

Burlison was reluctant to say how long it would take to have the interchange built if everything went smoothly. However, Mayor Frank Ferrell estimated it would take about three years.

2 arrested in office burglary

Police have arrested two men for the Thursday night burglary of the office of Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore, at 314 W. North St., and one man for auto theft.

Arrested for the burglary were Andrew Jackson Sales, 210 Dixie St., and Marvin Bernard Thomas, 1509 W. North St.

Detective Sgt. Jack Patterson said today the arrests were made Saturday after Sheriff John Dennis received an anonymous tip that another man had bought a calculator from the two suspects for $40.

A calculator was among $1,200 worth of items and an undisclosed amount of cash taken in the burglary.

Thomas was arrested at 11:30 a.m. and Sales at 12:30 p.m. Both were taken into custody at their homes.

Patterson said the calculator is the only item recovered so far.

Robert Eugene Stacy Jr., 922 Davis Blvd., was arrested for the theft of an automobile belonging to Paul C. Meyers, 815 N. Kingshighway. The car was taken Thursday night from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. parking lot on East Center Street.

Police said Stacy also admitted taking a car Aug. 12 from the parking lot at the Scott County Welfare Department on East Center Street.

Stacy was arrested at his home after he allegedly was seen in Vanduser driving the stolen car.

Other arrests announced today included: Dennis Joe Cobb, 839 Wayne St., careless and imprudent driving; Stephen William Hampton, 206 Jarvis St., disorderly conduct; Inis Bernice Hartlein, 108 Baker Lane, speeding; Willie May Ransom, 321 Dixie St., petit larceny; Ralph Hinton Clinton, Route Three, petit larceny; and Otis Ramsey, 215 Young St., maintaining a public nuisance.

Man held in Wyatt stabbing

WYATT — A knifing incident about 12:30 p.m. Sunday in Wyatt resulted in the arrest of George Greer, 30, of Wyatt who remains in custody in the Mississippi County jail in Charleston.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Smith said Greer is accused of stabbing Miss Frankie Bostic, 45, of Wyatt in the left hand with a butcher knife at the home the two shared in Wyatt. Miss Bostic were treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for the knife wound which required several stitches.

Greer was arrested by John Pearson, Wyatt City Marshall, and will be arraigned Thursday in Mississippi County magistrate court.

Democratic delegates selected

CHARLESTON — Delegates from Mississippi County to Tuesday's Democratic caucus in the Hickory Log Restaurant at Dexter will be Bob Hearnes of Charleston and Mrs. LaWanda Douglas of East Prairie.

Named as alternates at a reorganization meeting of the Mississippi County Democratic Central Committee last week were Mrs. Julie Warren of Charleston and Hunt Wellborn of East Prairie.

Hearnes and Mrs. Douglas were also re-elected to serve as chairman and vice chairman of the county central committee. Mrs. Paula Cunningham of Bertrand was re-elected secretary, and John Croft of Wyatt was elected treasurer.

Delegates attending Tuesday's caucus will elect delegates and alternates from the 10th Congressional District to attend a state committee convention Sept. 10 in Kansas City.

Thieves have busy weekend

Thieves were busy again over the weekend, stealing one car and burglarizing two cars and a house.

The stolen car, a white Corvette, was taken between 9 p.m. Saturday and 10:15 a.m. Sunday from Harvey G. Roberts, 804 E. Gladys St. The car was parked at the Roberts home when it was stolen.

Two guns and a radio were stolen from Mrs. Linda Hargraves, 302 Sunset Drive, between midnight Friday and 2:14 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Hargraves told police she was at a neighbor's house when the theft occurred.

Taken were a .22 - caliber rifle worth $60, a 20- guage shotgun worth $40 and a radio worth $20.

Freddie Warren, 1508 W. North St., told police a tape player and a tape were taken from his car between 6 and 10 a.m. Saturday while the car was parked on Sunset Drive.

Warren said the tape player was worth $80 and the tape was worth $6.

An attache case, containing personal papers, a tie and sport coat were taken from a car belonging to L. B. Luber, 207 E. Center St., sometime Saturday night while the vehicle was parked in the Merchants Parking Lot on North Kingshighway.

The attache case was valued at $50, the tie at $6 and the coat at $60.

City is growth center

Sikeston has been designated as one of 13 regional growth centers in Missouri, according to a letter received late last week from John Hequembourg, program coordinator of the state Economic Development Council.

The letter from Hequembourg certifies "that because of its potential for economic development, Sikeston has been selected to participate as a growth center in the Governor's Economic Development Council pilot program."

City Manger Charles Church said it is his understanding that the program is designed to allow the state government to give extra consideration in releasing state grants for such things as industrial development and utility line extensions.

Essentially the program opens the door for extra state aid to assist in fostering growth, Church said.

Church added the designation may give an extra boost to Sikeston's bid for an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road.

Other cities designated under the program are Farmington, Sedalia, Mexico and Independence, Church said.

Orientation held for Head Start staff

Staff members of the 22 Head Start centers in the six-county Delta Area Head Start program gathered in Sikeston this morning for the beginning of a week-long orientation.

Counties ncluded in the program are Scott, Stoddard, Mississippi, New Madrid, Dunklin and Pemiscot.

The orientation program opened at 9 a.m. today at Sikeston Activity Center, 201 S. Kingshighway.

On the morning program were C. B. Huber, Head Start director, who spoke on procedures, forms and expectations; Highway Patrol Sgt. Joe Matthews of Poplar Bluff, who presented a program on safe driving and safety precautions; David Kelley of Steele, who discussed insurance options; and Jim Friedebach, clinician and coordinator of Wescenmo in Sedalia, who spoke on training programs for the handicapped.

The afternoon program began with a presentation by Dr. Richard Cravens of Columbia, director of community mental health, who spoke to the staff from 1 to 2 p.m. about working with the handicapped.

At 2 p.m., the group was scheduled to break up into component groups. Nurses met with Jerry Spicer, a member of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic staff, to discuss the subject, "All About the Handicapped". Social services personnel met with Dr. Cravens, while education personnel received training by the central office staff, and nutrition employes met with Nancy Kaiser of New Madrid and Dianne Mallotte of Portageville to discuss how to plan and manage Head Start food centers. The first day's orientation was scheduled to adjourn at 4 p.m.

Tuesday's program will begin at 9 a.m., with all groups except social services personnel meeting again at Sikeston Activity Center. Social services personnel are scheduled to meet at the central office in Hayward.

Nursing personnel will meet during the morning with Dr. Cravens, and social services personnel with Mrs. Joyce King of Hayti for a discussion of parent involvement.

Pearl Draine of Kansas City, an early childhood development specialist for the Office of Child Development, will meet with the education personnel. Nutrition employes will meet from 9 to 10 a.m. with Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Mallotte.

From 10:15 to noon, Mrs. Draine will talk to them on "Mealtime, a Pleasant Learning Experience".

Mrs. Jeanne Littell, a registered nurse from

IT PAYS TO BE VIGILANT

Vililance, alertness and prompt action can keep this country from being suckered into detrimental deals with the Soviets.

Thanks to Senator Henry Jackson of Washington, Rep. Charles Vanik of Ohio, and a few newscasters and reporters, we learned that we were all set to sell the Soviet Secret Police our latest in criminology equipment; and because the alert was sounded, the Department of Commerce, in response to a sharp crack over the knuckles by Congress, put a stop to it.

The revelation came from Rep. Vanik in a House speech when he exposed the plan of a group of American companies to exhibit law- enforcement equipment at a trade fair in the stadium of the Young Pioneers in Moscow August 14 to August 28. Vanik called the plan "a most shocking, unconscionable action ... For the sake of sales and profits, a group of American businessmen will be placing their wares on sale in Moscow for examination by the KGB."

On the Senate side of the Hill, Senator Jackson branded the proposed move an "outrage" and promptly initiated a full investigation by his Senate Committee.

Radio commentator Philip C. Clarke, on the American Security Council's "Washington Report of the Air," quoted the Commerce Department as saying that it had "offered no assistance to the American companies planning to participate in the Moscow exhibit." The Department further said that "special permission must be granted for the sales of guns, tear gas and mace."

"What it did not say, however," Clarke continued, "is that under current rules and regulations, only technology that clearly could harm the U. S. national security needs such permits. Any other equipment, such as fingerprint detection and analysis, voice print machines, stress evaluators and hard - to - forge holographic identification cards do not require special export permits and can be sold freely."

Thanks to alert and prompt action, this particular boondoggle was averted. But what about other "deals," — either existing, or in the offing? We urge Senator Jackson and his committee to take a hard look into the whole matter of present trade controls, and see that we have strict and hard rules that will prevent any such occurrences as this in the future.

THE WORKER'S
PARADISE

For well over 100 years, our world has been virtually flooded with millions of pieces of propaganda condemning the "evils of Capitalism" and extolling the virtues of Socialism. Even today, in the United States, bookshelves in schools, colleges and libraries are loaded down with hundreds of volumes by an equal number of authors, some of whom are Americans, boasting the "superiority" of Communism over Capitalism. For example, one book alone — Political Economy of Socialism — published on the 50th anniversary of the Soviet regime in Russia (1917-1967) and distributed widely throughout the United States, declares:

"The Communist Party of the Soviet Union has elaborated and is implementing a broad program for advancing the welfare of the Soviet people ... The success of the world socialist system in material production and in the improvement of the living standard of the people is of great significance. It convinces the whole world of the great vital power of the socialist system and ensures the victory of socialism over moribund capitalism."

Now and then, however, the truth leaks out — and what we see is not quite the "workers' paradise" the socialist claim to have invented. What they have really invented is a big lie.

A case in point is the brand new "Pepsi-Cola" botting plant which has just been opened in Novorossisk, U.S.S.R. The communists are boasting that at 50% of its potential capacity, the plant is already turning out 120,000 bottles of the coffee - colored carbonated beverage every day. Visiting tourists from all over the world are taken on guided tours through the factory and are told that the Pepsio-Soviet enterprise is "a symbol of a new era."

A closer look, however, reveals that the working people in the new plant are, as it has always been with the Soviet socialist system, coming out with what is known as "the wrong end of the stick."

The drink is being sold as a "delicacy" — at 55 cents for a seven- ounce bottle. At the present rate of production, and not counting the deposit on the bottle, this means that the Communist monopoly is making better than $50,000 a day in retail sales.

What about the workers? There are 56 people employed in the plant, who are paid the average Soviet wage of 83 rubles a month — which is less than $100 a month, or about $4.17 a day.

A little calculation shows that the Red monopoly, therefore, is paying the Pepsico workers less than one-half of one per cent of the retail value of the product. Even if the Communists should pay the Pepsi Company in the United States a 50% royalty, they would still be paying their workers less than one per cent of the value of the product.

Among the things that make this story incredible is not that the Communist monopoly makes vast profits (as any monopoly can), but that we actually have numbers of professors in leading colleges and universities in the U.S.A. today who teach that socialism is superior to capitalism.

THE ESTABLISHMENT
STILL THE WINNAH!

How fares the "establishment"?

Surprisingly, considering the recentness of the Vietnam war, the public's highest rating of the nation's major institutions is given to the military. Close behind are colleges/ universities and religious organizations.

At the bottom of the scale, in descending order, are labor unions, the federal government and the President.

Between these extremes, again in descending order, are: Small businesses, public schools, news media, U. S. Supreme Court, large corporations, U. S. Congress, state governments, the judicial system and local governments.

These rankings are among the early results of a survey conducted late last year by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. A representative sample of 1,444 Americans was asked how good a job each of 15 major institutions was doing for the country. People were also asked their opinions about the honesty and morality of the leadership of 10 of the 15.

Labor union officials were given the poorest appraisal of any of the 10 institutions whose leadership was evaluated. They were followed by government officials and leaders of large corporations.

The U. S. Supreme Court was rated as the institution with the highest integrity. Leaders of small business and military officials were also viewed as having high standards of honesty and morality.

Despite numerous charges of wrongdoing that have been made against big business and low marks for leadership, the large corporations are still rated quite positively by the public. Sixty per cent of the people questioned said that the good things big businesses do outweight the bad, while only 17 per cent offered the opposite opinion.

This was a falling off from a similar ISR survey in 1950, however, when 76 per cent of the public felt that the positive aspects of big busines outweighed the bad and only 10 per cent throught otherwise.

MISSOURI TAXES
Prudence needed
if hikes to be avoided

Many Missourians, both in and out of public office, already have reluctantly accepted the belief that a tax increase in the state is inevitable in the very near future.

Well, is it inevitable? There are arguments on both sides, as the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey has pointed out in a recent report. Said the report:

"Favorable factors in the state's fiscal outlook make a tax increase illogical and unnecessary in the foreseeable future, but an eyple tax increase will be required unless immediate financial issues are resolved with a minimum cost to the state."

That sounds as if the Survey is straddling the fence, at first hearing. Actually, the Survey, as is its custom, is simply looking at all the facts and possibilities, both good and bad.

First, the bad news: The state faces a number of costly fiscal issues in the near future, some of which are inescapable, with others still open for decision. It is in the case of the latter that the utmost prudence in resolving them will be vital if a tax increase is to be avoided.

Among obligations which the state must find the money to satisfy are an $8 - to - $10 million supplemental welfare appropriation needed in January, more money for tax refunds and an estimated $21 million of general tax revenue that must be transferred to the state road fund because of a court decision. It may be possible to spread payment of the latter sum over a period of years, but it will have to be paid and will have to come from general revenue.

Other issues which are debatable include whether the state will pay the cost of having repealed taxes on intangible personal property and household goods — about $32 million — and legislative action on gubernatorial vetoes totaling $14 million at its September session. If the state doesn't pay the cost of the former, local governmental units will have to absorb it. The latter, of course, is entirely up to the judgment of the lawmakers.

In our view, they will probably give both matters long and careful thought. They are fully aware of the fact that any new tax increase would meet with strong resistance from the taxpayers. The 10-day veto session of the legislature is scheduled for less than two months before the general elections — a face of which the legislators also are fully conscious.

The Survey — turning to the good news — said a "significant factor weighing against a tax increase is a sharply declining birthrate which should lessen financial requirements of major state programs."

Take the state school aid program, for example. As of now, state support of elementary and secondary education requires 40 per cent of general revenue, or $418 million for the current fiscal year. That percentage was reached as a result of constant increases in state funds for schools over the past several years because of a population explosion.

But the effects of the explosion have now reached and passed their peak. The Survey declared that average daily attendance in public schools this year is expected to be 20,000 under the figure reached in the 1971-72 school year, and the teacher shortage has been replaced by an oversupply.

The lower birth rate should also lessen financial requirements for other youth programs — aid to dependent children, work training and day care, care of homeless and neglected children and child welfare. It has not yet affected colleges, but other factors are. A smaller percentage of college- age persons is enrolling and there is even competition for students among universities and colleges.

The Survey also maintains that federal revenue sharing funds have supplanted general tax revenues as a source of financing state construction so that money from the general fund ordinarily used for building can be diverted to other services. That, of course, is true as far as it goes. Right now, the state is pretty well caught up with its building needs, but, as we have warned before, there is no assurance that federal revenue sharing will continue as a permanent thing.

Another factor: there have been massive expansions of state services in the past 20 years or so. Appropriations for general state services have increased by 191 per cent over the last decade and 545 per cent over the last two decades. That is far faster than increasing in workload of state services or inflation, and it ought to be enough to last for some time.

PEOPLE, NOT
POLITICIANS WILL BOOST AMERICA'S FUTURE

Back in the days of the Great Depression -- 40 or more years ago -- governmental leaders were telling the country that the nation had reached maturity. They foresaw an end to growth and believed that "sharing the wealth" was the only fair way to proceed in the future. With a lack of imagination - individual initiative all too common in most politicians, the leaders of the day could envision no new frontiers and no great breakthroughs in science and technology. The goal then was simply to divide the existing pie.

In retrospect, the political shortsightedness of those days seems hard to believe. And yet today, there is somewhat of a parallel. Many political leaders and officials are once again expouding the no-growth doomsday philosophy. Everyone is being told they must learn to live with less and that we have outstripped the life support of Earth. But once again, the unimaginative can see no further than the status quo. They can visualize no new breakthroughs in science and technology. And no allowance is made for the initiative inherent in human nature or for the potential discoveries of inquiring minds. After 40 years, a growing governmental bureaucuracy is dedicated to see that everyone gets a fair share of less and less.

It is time people looked back of the long sweep of history. They would find good reason to suspect the present era of no-growth defeatism is not too much different than the mature economy doctrine of the 1930s. That doctrine was smothered in one of the greatest periods of growth and advancement ever experienced by mankind. With the opening of the nuclear and space age with broad new breakthroughs on a thousand scientific fronts, there is no more reason to believe the pessimists of today than those of 1933.

TWO AUTHORITIES
PREDICT INFLATION
WILL COOL BY FALL

Council of Economic Advisers chairman Herbert Stein says inflation is the biggest problem confronting the economy.

He said the government should resist stimulative actions as long as unemployment stays below six per cent.

He predicted inflation would drop significantly below the more than ten per cent annual rate by the end of the year if harvests are good.

Economists at the First National City Bank feel that "price inflation in the U. S. probably will cool off substantially in the second half of 1974 and during 1975.

"For one thing," they said, "many raw material prices probably have overshot the levels justified by fundamental worldwife supply and demand forces. Cooling commodity price pressures will be encouraged by the continued slow down in worldwide real growth in 1974, and the slow down in demand pressures this year."

H.L. Hunt

TO "SHOCK" THE PEOPLE

As if the American people have not had enough "shocks" as a result of wage and price controls plus hyper- inflation during the past two years, powerful voices are calling for more of the same medicine that almost destroyed the patient in the first place.

Demands from "liberal" politicians, union bosses and left- leaning opinion- molders forced the calamitous try-out of wage- price controls which built up the distortions and pressures to launch the inevitable hyperinflation of the past few months. It is sheer folly for Teamster boss Frank Fitzsimmons, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns and others to again impose controls on the American people and economy.

This would be a "shock" that would really set off the skyrocket of uncontrollable inflation. Prior to Hitler, Germans literally had to have a wheelbarrow full of paper marks to buy a loaf of bread. This destroyed the middle class and left a once-rich and civilized nation ripe for the little Austrian demagogue.

We have been down the road of false hope that is rigid control of prices and wages, followed by "phases" of bureaucratic- and- pressure-group- controlled increases. Surely the Congress and the President learned that lesson this time -- if they did not learn it during World War II and Korea, but if the loud voices demand controls while the people are silent, then we will have controls -- and disaster. The shortages of 1973 and 1974 will look like affluence in comparison with the empty factories and abandoned mines and drilling sites sure to result from the catastrophe of a controlled economy. Inside Labor

Inside White House: Why Rockefeller rushed to telephone Meany first

WASHINGTON — Well, this was the week that was for me. It started ghastly enough with the whining of police bullets lashing lethally at a meager demonstration in a Lisbon (Portugal) square but happily is winding up with the gay chatter and clatter of American politics as usual.

And for the moment most of the chatter is Nelson Rockefeller as he jets in and out of town, clears all telephone wires and prepares to open doors which, for the moment, President Jerry Ford may find slightly sticky.

It has not been recorded that one of the first-- if not the first -- calls Nelson or Rocky (no one really calls him Mr. Rockefeller) put in after being nominated Vice President-designate was to labor chief George Meany.

The ebullient ex- New York governor Tuesday morning, went from Jerry Ford's Oval Office to the White House press room and to the State Department for a family lunch with Henry Kissinger and children in the James Monroe Room. The Vice President- to-be, the record will show, had telephoned only Dick Nixon in the interim.

But at noon he used one of Dr. Kissinger's phones to call Meany to tell him of the formal nomination. Meany wasn't in his office but returned the call later through the White House switchboard. He missed Nelson. But the latter returned the call that night by radiophone while airborne back to his Seal Harbor, Me., vacation house.

Of course, Meany and Rockefeller have been friends for over 30 years -- ever since the latter was wartime coordinator of Inter- America Affairs and used the then relatively unknown AFL secretary- treasurer on some diplomatic sorties. It was actually the first time for Meany in top echelon international affairs. And he has not forgotten.

But there's far more significance to this rush to the phone than remembrance of things past. It is the Ford administration's tactical move to swing national labor leaders into the fight on the kind of monstrous inflation which billows up as much out of a carpenter's $108- a- day new pay rate (by 1976 in California) as from high interest rates.

True, a week earlier Jerry Ford had invited Meany in for a 45- minute noontime chat. It had been very pleasant. Exchange of somewhat stilted cures for inflation. The significance was not in the pleasantries (there was not much more according to reports) but in the fact that Meany had been invited into the White House for the first time since June 11, 1973. And that this was the first nose- to- nose across- the- table conversation ever held between both men.

The significance of this visit and of Rocky's telephone call is in the fact that Jerry Ford was willing to acknowledge that Meany is labor's envoy to the administration. Dick Nixon never granted that. Meany never forgave him for it. For Meany sees any rejection of himself as a reflection on the AFL-CIO itself as a sovereign American force.

Thus Jerry Ford, with an astuteness which few now grant, broke the ice. He is a new element. He has not really ever sat alone with top labor leaders -- except for his good friend, the AFL-CIO's maritime labor chief, Paul Hall, whose department covers some eight million members. Paul and Jerry have been close for a long time. And when they saw each other in the Oval Room on Thursday afternoon, I wager that after Hall said his first "Mr. President" it was "Paul and Jerry."

But it will be easier with Rockefeller opening doors to labor (and the blacks and the liberals, et al.). Rockefeller and Meany are New Yorkers. The ex- Governor long has been supported by Meany, who earlier this week directed that the AFL-CIO strongly support the confirmation of the Vice President- designate. About the same time Ray Corbett, president of the 2 million-member New York State AFL-CIO, got off two letters, one to "Dear Mr. President" and another to "Dear Nelson," ecstatically backing the nomination. So from New York, mostly the construction trades, which were Cick Nixon's labor base away back in May 1970, Rockefeller and Meany will ripple out across the nation and attempt to bring some sense to the economy.

But don't get the impression that Jerry Ford won't do his thing. As gently as it can be put with a big-spirited ("Hiya, fella") chap like Rockefeiler, the latter was told what his role will be. He is not a threat to Ford. He will not run for President. He will open doors until Ford gets around to doing it himself.

Ford has known the operations of American labor ever since he got his A in a university course on "Organized Labor." And Ford is an infighter. Few bother to recall how he and another Congressman, Mel Laird, took control of the House Republican bloc by ousting the ancient late Charles Halleck ten years ago.

In the words of one labor leader who has known Ford a long time, "Watch those Midwest fellows, especially Ford, who has a terrific fight manager, Mel Laird."

Also, the open- door policy and Meany's affection for Rocky will quiet some of Meany's traditional anti- White House thunder. And when Democratic National Committee chairman Robert Strauss asks next time, well, where can the labor crowd go anyway but with us, Meany need only wave his cigar towards the open White House door.

Only a few weeks ago Meany described Ford as a "conservative with integrity." When, a few minutes lager, he was reminded that he once had said the Democratic party was "in shambles," and asked what he now believes, he retorted: "Well, they are now in shambles plus two years."

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

by Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Military Duds

WASHINGTON — Not long ago, the Army produced a tractor- trailer that was supposed to grind over rugged terrain and also churn across rivers and lakes. The brass hats assured one another that it was well worth the $98.1 million that had been sunk in the project.

Triumphantly, they drove one of the remarkable vehicles onto the calm waters of the Chesapeke Bay for testing. While test officers watched slack- jawed, the GOER, as it was hopefully called, slipped slowly from sight beneath its own ripple to join the crabs and oyster shells on the murky bottom.

If the GOERS have failed to go far, they are in familiar company. For years, we have exposed how the Pentagon wastes billions of dollars for military equipment that is often inferior.

Perhaps the American people have become so accustomed to gross waste and cost overruns that they are now too calloused to care. But we keep returning to the story in the belief that the brass hats are more careful when they are working in the glare of the spotlight.

The two most celebrated clinkers were probably the Air Force's giant C-54A transport plane, with its staggering cost overruns, and the F-111 fighter plane, with its mysterious crashes. There was also the M16 rifle, which was supposed to give combat soldiers extra fire power but, instead, jammed and misfired on the Vietnam battlefields.

The Army, seeking an all-weather helicopter for tactical air support, also spent nearly half a billion dollars on the Cheyenne helicopter. It was neither air worthy nor battle worthy. The Sheridan tank was designed as a fast, light attack vehicle, with both conventional fire power and a sight- guided missile. The Sheridans cost $335,000 apiece. Yet, without modification, they lacked sufficient armor for duty in Vietnam and proved too sophisticated for easy repair.

Dismayed, Congress turned down a request for a new $700,000 main battle tank. But the Army simply changed the name and is now back on Capitol Hill again looking for more money.

The Navy's 1052- Class destroyer was so badly designed that early models proved to be floating fire traps. A greater waste, the Mark 48 torpedo, cost the Navy a cool $3 million, yet 90 per cent of them didn't function satisfactorily.

This is only a partial listing, of course, of the Pentagon's multimillion- dollar blunders. Fabulous sums have gone down the golden drain for weapons that won't work, spare parts that are never used and contracts that should never have been signed.

The generals and admirals explain solemnly that for America's armed forces to remain supreme on land, sea and in the air, they must stay ahead in the development of new weapons systems. Military superiority cannot be sacrificed, they contend, for cost efficiency.

It is an argument Congress has been buying for three decades. All the military brass had to do was mention the magic words. "national security," and Congress was ready to shower them with greenbacks. The military budgets have never been subjected to the penny-pinching that members of Congress apply to welfare spending, housing programs, educational appropriations and the like.

This has tempted the military dreamers to seek ever more exotic equipment -- a general's equivalent of a child's visions of sugar plums. As the dreams are translated into the reality of steel, the top brass have long lists of wishes.

These need have no relationship to existing technology or the industry's ability to produce. In fairness to the defense contractors, they are often called upon to accomplish technological miracles to satisfy the whims of the military dreamers. Practicality and cost are secondary.

As the procurement planning expands with each new appropriation, so does the planning staff. The top planners are judged less by the new weapons they produce than by the size of the staffs they command. After all, it will take a war to determine whether the weapons systems work. the promotions go, therefore, to those with the most subordinates.

Neither efficiency nor economy are as important in the Pentagon as empre building. Those who produce useless equipment are seldom demoted or dismissed. But those whose bureaucratic empires start crumbling are on the skids.

Under this system, the armed forces have grown fat and unimaginative and top heavy. An astonishing 68 per cent of the Army are now commissioned officers, noncoms or specialists. Thus the chiefs literally outnumber the Indians.

Commanding 2.1 million men today are 43 more three-star and four- star generals and admirals, 1,752 more colonels and Navy captains than commanded 12 million men at the end of World War II. An incestuous relationship has also grown up between the procurement officers and the defense contractors. Nearly all contractors employ former military officers in their sales divisions. These arms peddlers unashamedly flash their service academy rings in pursuit of contracts.

And procurement officers, as they make their multimillion- dollar decisions, often are thinking about fat jobs with contractors after they retire.

The irony is that the same Pentagon people who cry in the name of national defense for more weapons are responsible, because of their blundering and waste, for diminishing the ability of America to defend herself.

Brakes blamed for accident

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Faulty brakes have been blamed for an accident with a fraternity-owned fire truck that injured 22 youths near the Southeast Missouri State University campus Sunday.

Authorities said the fire truck, owned by the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity, had 30 persons aboard when it overturned while turning a corner.

Seven persons remained hospitalized today, with 15 others treated and released. One coed, Karen Hendrickson, 17, of Florissant, was transferred to a St. Louis hospital with a head injury.

The others injured included Tina Miller, St. Louis; Denise Spinale, 18, Webster Groves; Steve Speno, 19, Florissant; Chris Schaefer, 17, Cape Girardeau; Gary Perry, 18, Charleston, and Linda Groslaub, 18, Dellwood.

Benton club recognized

BENTON – The Benton Jaycees received an award for a playgound renovation project during a recent Missouri Jaycees Region 8 meeting at Farmington. The Region consists of 26 Southeast Missouri clubs.

The new Benton club was extended its charter by the Cape Girardeau Jaycees in May.

The Benton club worked several months to raise funds to renovate the playgound area in the city park. Old equipment was repaired and repainted, and new equipment will be installed in September.

The Benton Jaycees plan to use the preoceeds from a Benton Neighbor Day "I've Got It" stand and a tractor pull contest to assist the Chamber of Commerce in purchasing the Benton ball park.

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A reader in California has asked me to make a comment on men's threshold of pain.

It seems her husband recently was advised to wear contact lenses. The ceremony he stages makes the Rose Bowl parade look like an impulse.

"First," she wrote, "he spreads a white Turkish towel on the dining room table, takes an antique shaving cabinet off the mantle and sets it in front of him. Around this, he arranges three other mirrors (including a hand mirror with gold angels floating around). Then he gets a little custard cup half -filled with water to wash one lens in, and opens cases of little bottles of wetting and soaking solution.

"He has a gadget of rubber with a tiny cup upturned at the end to lift out by suction the lens from the upper part or the extreme lower part of his eyeball. Then he is ready to insert the lens, he summons me to assist. It eats up a good half hour.

"When evening come, we repeat the entire operation to take them out."

What can I tell you? Some men can endure a war and then go to bed for three days after they've had their teeth cleaned.

The same man who can cut a fish hook out of his hand will discover a bee in the car, slam on the brakes, exit and yell back, "Don't fiddle with it. Just get whatever you can for the car."

If I have any observatons to make on pain it is that it's a real attention grabber and it's a rare man who does not have his story of bravery to relate.

At a party one night, my husband and I listened in absolute horror to a man tell us in datail how he got his finger severed in a power mower and remained conscious during the entire ordeal.

Not to be outdone, another man joined us and told a grisly story of how he picked up a hitchhiker and was shot. My husband opened his mouth and I knew he was going to tell that pitiful story of how he scraped his arm on the rose bush. He described his surprise at seeing all the blood and quickly added that he acted instinctively to stop the bleeding and drove himself to the hospital emergency ward. I have to admit by the time he finished he made that simple scratch sound like a valve bi -pass performed in Houston.

Mrs. California, at that moment, I would have given a fortune to see your husband tell of how he readies the room for surgery before inserting his contact lenses.

Women's threshold of pain is supposedly quite high. But even we have a limit to our endurance.

Sisters pledge vows in double ceremony

CHARLESTON — In a double ceremony at 5:30 p.m. July 25 in the United Methodist Church, Miss Susan Hunter Shelby pledged marriage vows with James Raymond Winchester, and her sister, Miss Barbara "Boo" Shelby, exchanged vows with James Dabney McMurray Jr. The Rev. John Hayes Jr. of East Prairie performed the ceremony.

Parents of the brides are Mr. and Mrs. Travis Shelby Jr. of East Prairie. Winchester is the son of Mrs. Tom Masterson of Benton, Ky., and W. H. Winchester Jr. of East Prairie. McMurray is the son of Mrs. J. D. McMurray of Meridian, Miss., and the late J. D. McMurray.

Matching arch candelabra, holding 30 white tapers, centered by a bird cage candelabrum, each entwined with smilax and gypsophila, formed the background for the candlelight ceremony. Woodwardia palm trees were placed on either side of the choir loft, which was covered with plumosa, gypsophila and camellia foliage.

Twin spiral candelabra, each holding 30 tapers, were placed on either end of the communion table, which was centered with an arrangement of camellia foliage and baby's breath.

Completing the candlelight setting were four nine- branch tree candelabra placed on the steps inside the communion rial.

Windows of the church were banked with greenery, and the family pews were marked by hurricane lamps. Pews for sorority sisters were marked with single candles, and all other pews were adorned with citrus green and yellow streamers and sprigs of fern.

Prior to the ceremony, Matt Bryant of Charleston played a selection of music at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Richard Frazier as she sang, "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer". Bryant also accompanied Steve England of East Prairie as he sang, "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Wedding Song". The processional was "Trumpet Voluntary", and the recessional was "Tocata".

Miss Susan Shelby was presented in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of ivory delustered satin combined with imported Brussels Lace. The empre bodice was fashioned with a decollete neckline, lavishly adorned with insertions of Brussels lace, with long slim sleeves, which were etched at the wrist in repeated lace patterns.

Her bell- shaped skirt was designed with wide panels, creating deep fold pleats in the front with back panels flowing into a chapel train. The inserts of the pleats were accented with lace appliques.

Her headdress was an antebellum hat of ballibuntle straw, softly draped in imported silk illusion in ivory, accented with silk lily of the valley in pale pink and ivory. A long formal veil of silk illusion was also attached to the headdress. Her bridal bouquet was of ivory rosebuds, baby's breath, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Entering on the arm of her grandfather, Travis Shelby Sr. of East Prairie, Miss Barbara Shelby, was attired in a formal gown of ivory English illusion with hand-drawn Venise lace over ivory silk peau de soie. The Basque- style bodice was designed with a lace, sculptured, u- shaped neckline and brief simple sleeves. The bodice was re-embroidered and appliqued with Venise lace motifs attached by hand. Simple elegance was again expressed in the princess silhouette of her gown, designed with simulated panels on the skirt created of handmade lace in garland pattern which flowed into a court train.

Scattered at intervals on the gown were re-embroidered motifs of lace, and she carried a bridal bouquet of ivory rosebuds, baby's breath, stephanoiis, and lily of the valley. Her headdress was a mantilla-designed Juliet bandeau of English illusion, bordered in the Venise lace designed for her gown.

Miss Pam Kriese was maid of honor for Miss Susan Shelby, and Mrs. David Williams served as her sister's matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Bill Maurer of Indianapolis, Ind., Miss Lisa Blackman of East Prairie, Mrs. Bert Johnston of Pensacola, Fla., Mrs. Bobby Morris of Jackson, Miss., Miss Kathy Caldwell of Jackson, Tenn., and Miss Sonja Shealy of Hyannis Port, Mass.

Miss Barbara Shelby chose her sister, Miss Mari T. Shelby, as her maid of honor and Mrs. Joe Oliver, her cousin, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Tomee Ann Britt of East Prairie, Miss Rebel Story of Charleston, Mrs. Edgar C. Marshall of Sturdivant, Mrs. Stuart Bain of East Prairie, Miss Puddin Buchler of Greenville, Miss., and Miss Margo Trimble of Natchez, Miss.

The attendants were gowned in identical dresses of citrus tone, silk screen organza over imported cotton. The empire bodice was designed with a permanently pleated Bertha-style collar which created brief sleeves. Bands of aquamarine satin defined the waistlines. The A- line skirts were unadorned and worn over a skirt of citrus and white gingham checked cotton.

Each attendant alternately completed her attire with either a citrus, woven straw, Southern Belle picture hat, banded in ivory Venise lace insertion, through which was drawn aquamarine satin ribbon terminating in a back bow, and carried bouquets of yellow roses, daisies and smilaz greenery; or they carried a citrus, imported, voille parasol designed especially for their gown, to which was attached a floral arrangement of yellow roses, daisies and smilaz greenery.

Miss Ashleigh Williams of Charleston, niece of the brides, was flower girl. She wore a turquoise organza gown with matching bow and flower in her hair. She carried a natural straw basket of rose petals. Steven Winchester of Charleston was ringbearer. He wore a Moygashel- linen English page suit of natural, trimmed in ecru, lace. He carried an antique pillow of satin and Brussels lace.

Hense Winchester of Sikeston served his brother as best man. Winchester's groomsmen were Albert Leigh of Paris, Tenn., Mark Adamson of Jefferson City, Wes Fewell of Columbia, Tom Phillips and Bill Kruger of Denver, Colo., Tim Myder of Kansas City and Bobby McTigue of East Prairie.

Greg McMurray of Meridian, Miss., served his brother as best man. His groomsmen were Wick Eatherly of Tchula, Miss., Bill Allen of Belzoni, Miss., Mike Bastari of Indianola, Miss., and Manny Mitchell, Jim Lauderdale and Dee Brookshire of Meridian.

Ushers were David Williams of Charleston and Bill Bryant, Joe Oliver and Lee Felts of East Prairie. Oliver and Felts also served as candlelighters.

A reception for approximately 800 wedding guests was held following the ceremony at Ramada Inn of Sikeston. At the guest registers were Miss Wanda Blankenship of New Orleans, La., and Miss Janey Britt of East Prairie.

Three tables, draped in white net, caught up at intervals with lily of the valley, centered with three-branched silver candelabra with white tpaers, were used for the buffet supper, wedding cakes, punch and the champagne fountain. Two four- tier wedding cakes were topped with multi-colored fresh flowers.

Providing music for the reception was the Robert Jones Combo of Cape Girardeau. Rice bags, turquoise satin tulips on stems, were passed out by Dottie and Richie Gregory of East Prairie.

Serving at the reception were Miss Martha Nichols and Mrs. Erskin Ramsey of Birmingham, Ala., Miss Laurie Forestall of Bay St. Louis, Miss., Mrs. Hense Winchester of Sikeston, Mrs. Wilson Eatherly of Tchula, Miss Cheri Carter of Springfield, Miss Suzanne Yates of Lexington, Miss., and Miss Sally Waring of Vicksburg, Miss.

The new Mrs. Winchester is a graduate of East Prairie High School and University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. She will resume teaching third grade this fall at Hearnes Elementary School in Charleston.

Winchester is a graduate of Charleston High School and attended University of Missouri- Columbia, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

The new Mrs. McMurray, an East Prairie High School graduate, also attended the University of Mississippi, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. She will do her student teaching this fall in Morley.

McMurray is a graduate of Meridian High School and University of Mississippi, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Winchester honeymooned at Tan-Tar-A, a resort near Osage Beach, and will make their home in East Prairie.

The McMurrays spent their honeymoon in Marco Island, Fla., and are now at home in Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winchester Jr. and Mrs. J. D. McMurray were hosts at a rehearsal dinner for 108 guests, including members of the wedding party and out-of- town family members, on July 26 at Ramada Inn of Sikeston.

Foeste center of attention

By BILL HARRISON

CHAFFEE — The City of Chaffee turned out at Harmon Field Friday night to pay tribute to the man most responsible for the success of the city's Junor Babe Ruth state champions in 1974 and baseball in general in the city, James A. "Buck" Foeste.

It was the concensus of every citizen in Chaffee that Buck is the one most responsible for the baseball program which has risen to such heights in the past year.

On hand to present Mr. Foeste with a plaque to commemorate his dedication to the baseball program of Chaffee was Neil Stubbs, the first little league player in the city.

Amanda Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindon Duncan, presented Jim's wife, Mildred, with a bouquet of roses. Mr. Jack Burnett Jr. presented Mr. Foeste with a check and a newspaper which contained the story of his achievements. Jack Burnett Sr. made the presentation of the Key to the city.

The highlight of Foeste's career was the winning of the Missouri state Jr. Babe Ruth tournament for the first time this year. The towns 13- year - old All-Stars shared the title in 1972.

This years team competed in the National Midwest Sectional in Ottawa, Kansas earlier this month.

"The city of Ottawa went out of the way for us," noted Lindon Duncan, one of the team coaches. "We had the best club there but a rain delay set us back and actually cost us the first game," he continued. "Chaffee represented the state excellently. You won't find a better group of boys and none of it would have been possible if it hadn't been for Buck," Lindon said.

The Chaffee players had a fine experience in playing in the tournament and making the trip.

"The city of Ottawa always had something planned for us to do," said Scott Wachter, Chaffee's outstanding pitcher and hitter. "I consider it the highlight of my life," he went on. "It had an effect on all lives whether we won or not," Scott stated.

"We stayed with foster parents who owned a clothing store and they had a sign which read "Welcome Nebraska" but changed it to "Welcome Missouri" for us." "We stayed with people who lived in Ottawa and we played Ottawa in the last game and the people we stayed with rooted for us instead of for their home team. That's how nice they were," Scott said.

Chaffee won the sportsmanship trophy with an unanimous vote of the 12 umpires that worked the game.

Mr. Foeste was as proud of the sportsmanship trophy as he would have been if we had won the tournament," Wachter stated.

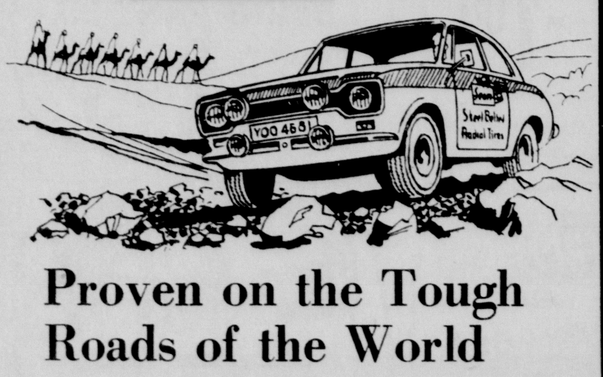

James A. "Buck" Foeste is congratulated by a group of players after being honored Friday night by the citizens of Chaffee for his contribution to the youth of the city.

Cards lose first place

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Marshall, the Los Angeles Dodgers' relief pitcher deluxe, accepted congratulations for his superb performance, then said, "To get out of something like that you have to be lucky."

Marshall, in his 84th game this season, entered a bases loaded, none out situation Sunday, facing the go-ahead run. But he nailed three batters in a row, striking out two, to preserve a 9-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The victory, the Dodgers' fifth in their last six games and second in a row over the staggering Cardinals, kept them 2½ games in front of Cincinnati in the National League West.

The defeat, coupled with a double victory by Pittsburgh at San Diego, knocked the Cardinals out of first place in the NL East and left them one-half game behind Pittsburgh.

"Mike Marshall has been super all year," said Jimmy Wynn, who drove in two runs, his 90th and 91st of the year.

"He pitchers every day and is just fantastic. What else can you say about the man?"

Marshall, ever the reluctant hero, said he made good pitches during the critical situation in the sixth inning. "But I also made good pitches the other night. I just wasn't lucky," he added.

It was Friday that Marshall surrendered a ninth-inning single which broke a 1-1 tie and led to a St. Louis victory.

This time he pitched out of the jam brilliantly, preserving Andy Messersmith's 15th win with his 19th save.

The Dodgers based 14 hits, including Don Cey's 15th home run which highlighted a five- run first inning against losing pitcher Alan Foster, 7-9.

Messersmith pitched into the sixth before leaving with a run in, the bases loaded, no one out and the Dogers ahead, 6-3.

That's when Marshall appeared. He got Ted Simmons to pop out and then fanned Ken Reitz and Mike Tyson.

The Dodgers sewed it up with three runs in their half of the inning.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Aug. 26, the 238th day of 1974. There are 127 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1920, the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution went into effect, giving women the same voting rights as men.

On this date:

In 1316, artillery was said to have been used for the first time—in the battle of Crecy in northern France.

In 1765, Massachusetts Gov. Thomas Hutchinson was accused of favoring the British Stamp Act and a mob sacked his home.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler demanded that France turn over the Saar to Germany.

In 1937, Japan blockaded Chinese shipping.

In 1942, in World War II, France's Vichy government announced the dissolution of the French senate.

In 1945, at the end of the war, Japanese envoys boarded the U.S. battleship "Missouri" to receive their surrender instructions.

Ten years ago: Student and Buddhist riots forced the resignation of the government of Premier Nguyen Khanh in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: President Nixon gave a birthday party at the White House for his predecessor, Lyndon Johnson.

One year ago: Skylab 2 passed the halfway point on its 59-day journey in space.

Today's birthdays: General Maxwell Taylor is 71. Mexican painter Rufino Tamayo is 72.

Thought for today: There is nothing so stupid as the educated man, if you get off the thing he was educated in—Will Rogers.

Ann Landers

Parents feel they have failed

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened between parents and children in the last 15 years? The Bible says, "Raise up a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it." Do you believe it? I don't.

Our own children are living proof. We have four. I stayed home and took care of them. We always went to church together. They had plenty of love, responsibility and discipline. Everything was fine until they started high school or went to college. Within six months they fell in with friends who could twist and turn them any which way. "Peer pressure," they call it. Well, whatever it is I don't understand how it could have negated all the years of love and good training.

Our sons and daughters look like bums. They have no interest in decent clothes. They tell us they are agnostics. Three are college graduates, yet they can't finds jobs they like. They think it is hypocritical to do work that isn't "rewarding, exciting and stimulating." Don't they realize that life isn't all fun and pleasure?

Ann, you can do a lot of good by printing this letter and letting our children know that we, as parents, are fed up with their scraggly appearance, foul language, and total disrespect for authority.

My husband is in his early 50s and he is a broken man. We cry for each other, and for the thousands of other parents who feel they have failed. We did our best and can't figure out what went wrong.

Yes, we know many children go the right way, but this letter is for parents, like ourselves, who are sick at heart because we raised a generation of messed-up misfits. What can you say to us? -- Failures

Dear Friends; Don't despair. The jury is still out. Many children "come home again" -- if the door is open and a light is in the window. I've seen some plenty far-out kids do a complete reversal and become extremely conservative, even square. It could happen to yours -- and I pray it does.

Dear Ann: I am dead serious about this and I need an answer. For three years I've been going with a married man who is very much in the public eye and considered a national V. I. P.

We have an excellent relationship on all levels. But, as one must expect in a situation such as ours, there must be some compromises. I find myself doing more and more of the giving and it's making me miserable. His last minute cancellations because of public appearances where he is expected to bring his wife are becoming more frequent and wildly frustrating. Last night I received 30 minutes notice. The dinner I had prepared with great care ended up in the garbage can.

I have several alternatives and I hope you will help me select the best one. Should I:
(a) Go into therapy?
(b) Drop him and find someone else?
(c) Hang in there and keep my mouth sut?
(d) Open my mouth in the hope that his wife will throw him out and he will marry me?
—Hidden And Hurting.

Dear H And H: Plan B is the best, but make sure the next man you pick is not married.

Insurance agent exams rescheduled

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Due to the Labor Day holiday, the Missouri Division of Insurance agent and broker examinations previously scheduled for the first Monday in September will be given on Sept. 3 at the Little Theatre of Kent Library at Southeast Missouri State University.

All applicants should check in by 8 a.m. and must present the examination permit in order to be admitted to take the examination.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law." (Galatians 5:22-23)

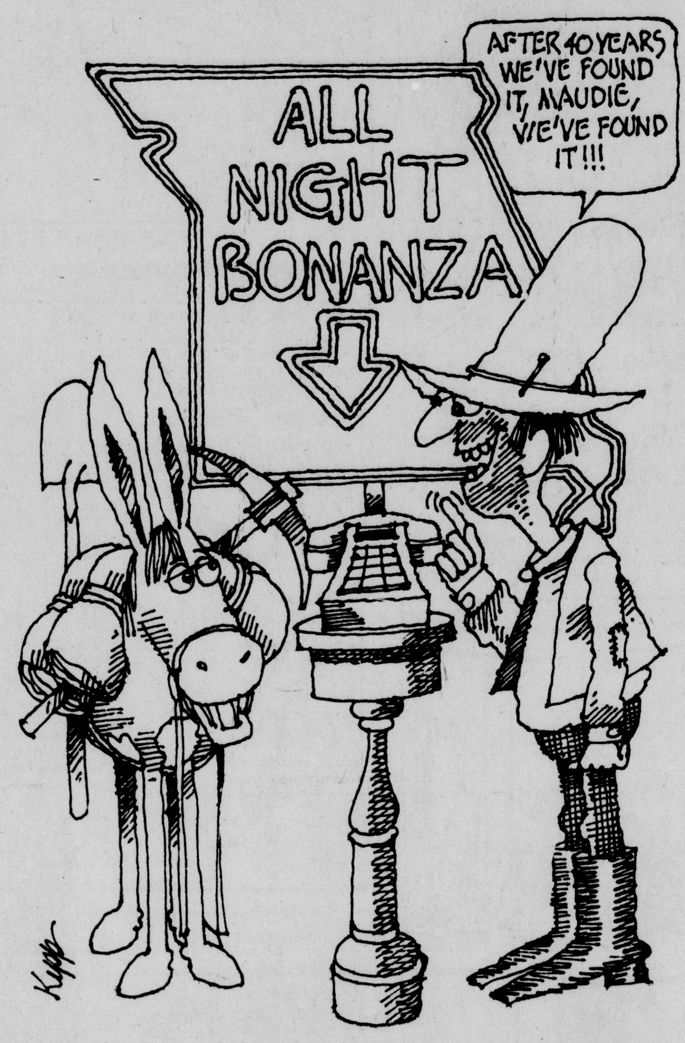

PRAYER: O God, we ask Your help, believing You will listen to our cry and our confessions and will forgive us our sins. Renew us by the power of Your Spirit. In Jesus' name. Amen.

One-Minute Bonanza... lasts all night long!

Every night, too. From 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. If you use One-Plus Dialing to call any Missouri city farther than 18 miles away, the minimum charge is for one minute instead of three.

The special one-minute rate is a real bonanza for quick calls—like making hotel reservations or saying "I love you." The chart below lets you compare One-Plus night rates with other time periods and types of calls between selected Missouri cities.

SELECTED MISSOURI CITIES AND MILEAGE GROUPINGS	One-Plus Dialing: WEEKDAY Mon. thru Fri. 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.		EVENING Sun. thru Fri. 5 p.m. to 11 p.m.		EVERY NIGHT 11 p.m. to 8 a.m.		WEEKEND Sat. 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sun. 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.		Operator-Assisted ALL DAYS • ALL HOURS: Station-to-Station (credit card, collect, third number and coin phone calls)		Person-to-Person
	Initial Period 3 Mins.	Each Add'l. Min.	Initial Period 3 Mins.	Each Add'l. Min.	Initial Period 1 Min.	Each Add'l. Min.	Initial Period 3 Mins.	Each Add'l. Min.	Initial Period 3 Mins.	Each Add'l. Min.	Initial Period 3 Mins.	Each Add'l. Min.

Rates do not include tax.

Since rates are based on air mileage, calls between Missouri cities at similar distances will cost approximately the same amounts. When you use One-Plus, you can afford to travel by Long Distance...and stay awhile.

FARM TRACTOR AUCTION
Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, 1974 -- 12:30 PM
Sikeston, Missouri 63801
Location: 3/4 Mile East on Hwy. 62 from I-55 Interchange.

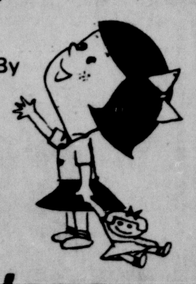

NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES will be selling between 200 and 300 farm tractors at its GRAND OPENING SALE, many of them being current models in the most popular makes and models. This new tractor selling facility is the finest in the central part of the United States, if not in the entire country. Its president is KENNETH HULL and, while Kenneth is changing his location for doing business, he isn't changing his honorable, dependable manner of dealing with his customers no matter who they are or where they're located. The well known, popular PETE YOKLEY will be the Auctioneer and he will have with him his excellent selling team. Just a few of the many things you'll like about NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES are: Buying TRACTORS ONLY at an afternoon sale ... Buying field equipment right off the lot without having to wait for it to come up for auction ... Largest loading docks in the Midwest to accommodate 12 to 15 trucks at the same time ... Prompt loading and unloading ... Lot crew available to start and check out tractors with you before the sale ... Fair handling of any consignments that come into the lot for selling (consigned tractors WILL NOT BE SOLD LAST) ... Comfortable lobby area both upstairs & downstairs ... Private offices for the convenience of our customers ... Plenty of parking room ... Extremely large selling arena with seating for several hundred ... PROMPT SETTLEMENTS soon after close of the sale for all tractors sold in that day's sale.

There will be trading on the lot daily and NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES will have competent buyers and covering the entire mid-section of the United States. You have the choice of selling equipment and tractors to NATIONWIDE at any time or of consigning to one of our sales at a very reasonable commission charge. While you're in Sikeston for the NATIONWIDE TRACTOR AUCTION, you'll have the opportunity to attent two more regular equipment auctions, both of which have some fine equipment in them. Mark September 3rd on your calendar today and MEET US IN SIKESTON!

Terms: Everything must be paid for day of sale. Cash, Cashier's & Certified checks accepted; other checks taken with bank letter if customer isn't financially known to us.

Auto accidents hurt 4 in city

Four people were hurt in two separate traffic accidents over the weekend in Sikeston, according to police.

A three- car accident at 2 p.m. Saturday resulted in Doris Jenkins, 25, and Heather Jenkins, 3, both of 534 N. Ranney being treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for minor injuries.

Police said the accident occurred at the corner of East Malone Avenue and Ralph Street when a truck reportedly pulled out of Ralph Street and into the path of a car traveling west on Malone Avenue, driven by Sadonna Marlene Thompson, 24, of 409 Wallace.

Police said she swerved into the eastbound lane to avoid the truck and hit a car driven by Jackie E. Hacket, 27, of 215 William St. The Jenkins car, also eastbound struck the Hacket car in the side.

Neither Hacket nor the Thompson woman were injured.

The driver of the truck apparently did not stop.

At 11:55 a.m. Sunday a car driven by Alice Ruth Adams, 28, of Benton Route One, struck a car driven by Dean Alvin Pack, 80, 734 Park Ave. at the intersection of College and Ranney streets.

Marilyn Jones, 17, of Benton Route One was treated at the hospital for a low back sprain, and Alice Jones, 29, also of Benton Route One, was treated for a bruise. Both were passengers in the Adams car.

The Adams car hit the Pack car in the right rear, according to police.

No arrests were made.

Cape firm votes down union

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Employes of Missouri Dry Dock and Repair, 500 Aquamsi, Thursday rejected District 9, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO of St. Louis, as their bargaining agent in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

C. W. Rushing, spokesman for the company, said the vote was 43 to 16 against union representation. Three votes were challenged, he said, but were an insufficient amount to affect the outcome of the election.

Voting were production workers, welders, fitters, burners, laborers, truck drivers and others. It was the fourth time employes have rejected union representation.

Supervising the election was Donald E. Gardiner of the NLRB office in St. Louis. Forrest W. Brandon, also of St. Louis, was union representative.

Coats admitted to hospital

CHAFFEE — Police Chief Jimmy Dale Coats was admitted Friday to Chaffee General Hospital for observaton and tests after he became ill Thursday.

3 escaped convicts still elude authorities

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Three revenge-bound escaped convicts who swept through Colorado, New Mexico and Texas killing, raping and robbing hid out today from a small army of officers in this rugged ranch country.

"There really is not much we can do but maintain our road blocks and roving patrols in hopes of flushing them out," said Capt. G. W. Burks of the Texas Rangers, who was coordinating the manhunt.

Authorities blamed the three for two murders, two rapes and several robberies since they escaped from a Colorado prison.

Officers believed the three were hiding in an area about five square miles northwest of Stephenville. The men last were sighted there about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The area is rugged ranch country cut up by gullies and marked by thick mesquite brush. Half the 18,000 residents of Erath County reside in Stephenville.

"The area is just impossible to comb, even on horseback," said Burks.

Bloodhounds were brought in but Burks said the trail was too cold for the dogs to follow. Rain and wind also obliterated any scent.

Burks said the escapees could live off wild game indefinitely.

Ranch and farm families in the target area had been evacuated.

Authorities said the three shot and killed two persons who testified against some of them at previous trials.

Earlier, Erath County Dist. Atty. Bob Glascow had labeled the convicts as "dangerous dudes."

"We're sure they came to Texas for revenge and vengeance."

By Sunday evening, more than 200 armed officers began to tighten a circle north of this Central Texas town in search of the three Colorado state prison escapees who traveled farm roads from the plains of West Texas 130 miles east to Stephenville.

"We are still assuming that they are in the area," Glascow said. He said authorities had evacuated 12 or 15 farms in the area.

The three who escaped Thursday night were wanted in connection with the shooting deaths Saturday of rancher T. L. Baker and Mrs. Ray Ott. Authorities said both victims had testified against two of the convicts in previous burglary cases. Colorado prison officials said one of the convicts had sworn to kill a number of persons involved in court cases that sent him to prison.

The three were identified as Jerry Ulmer, 22, convicted of burglary; Dalton Williams, 29, serving a 40-to-60 year term for robbery, conspiracy and assault, and Richard Mangum, 22, serving three to five years for car theft.

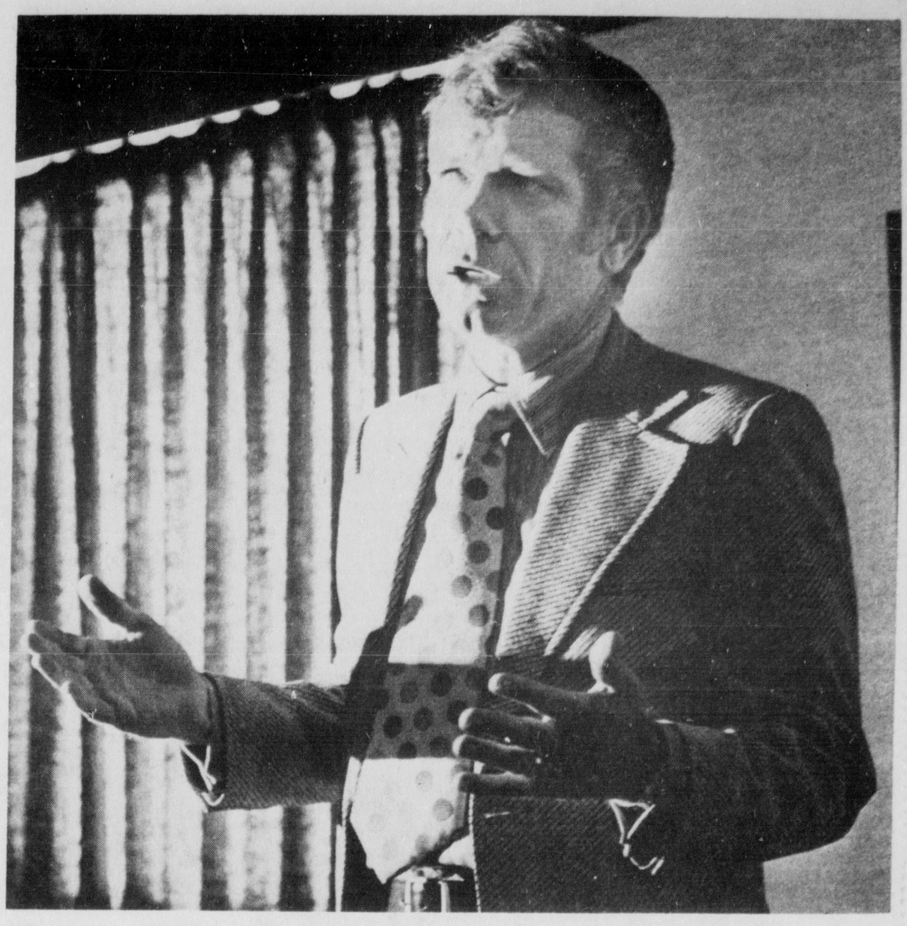

Authorities said rancher Baker had testified at Williams' burglary trial, saying the man burglarized his home and stole several guns. Mrs. Ott had testified in a trial in which Ulmer was convicted of burglarizing the Ott home.

Baker was shot Saturday at his ranch. Mrs. Ott was gunned down later in the day at her home.

"They had to be looking for that house," Glascow said of the Ott residence. "It is isolated and off the highway. It's not the kind of place you would stumble across."

Authorities said the trio abducted and raped two women in New Mexico and released them in Texas. Their path across Texas was marked with four more house burglaries, the shooting up of a truck stop and a running gun battle with police.

The three were believed to be on foot after stealing four cars, the latest of which was found abandoned 2 miles north of here early Sunday.

Burlison promises help

Tenth District Rep. Bill Burlison promised area residents Saturday to help in any way he can to secure an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road. Burlison spoke to about 20 people Saturday at Ramada Inn.

3 killed, 28 injured in weekend accidents

Three persons were killed and 28 injured, four seriously, in 14 area traffic accidents reported over the weekend, the highway patrol announced today.

Herschel McAlister Jr., 27, of Shook, was killed at 1:30 a.m. Saturday five miles east of Greenville on Route E when he lost control of his car, which ran off the road, came back across the road and struck an embankment, then became air-borne and struck several trees, throwing the driver from the vehicle.

The body was taken to Gish- Bowles- Coder Funeral Home in Piedmont.

Samuel Hopkins, 23, of Greenville was killed at 3 a.m. Sunday when his car ran off the road and struck a tree on Route T one mile south of Lowndes. He was partially thrown from the vehicle.

His body also was taken to Gish- Bowles- Coder Funeral Home in Piedmont.

Susan Muller, 20, of Mehlville, died at 10:20 a.m. Sunday in St. Joseph Hospital at Kirkwood as a result of injuries received in an accident at 3:15 a.m. Sunday on Interstate 55 four miles north of Brewer.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Jack Muller, 49, of Mehlville, was struck from behind in heavy fog by a car driven by John Walker, 25, of St. Louis.

The impact caused the Muller car to turn over and come to rest on its left side, the highway patrol reported.

In addition to the fatal injuries received by Miss Muller, Muller suffered critical injuries, Mary Ann Muller, 15, received serious injuries and Victorine Muller, 44, and Jack Muller Jr., 5, sustained minor injuries. All were taken to Perry County Hospital and later transferred to St. Joseph Hospital in Kirkwood.

Orville Grisson, 43, of Charleston, was seriously injured at 3:05 a.m. Sunday when he failed to stop his car at a stop sign at the junction of Highways 62 and 153 at the eastern edge of Risco.

The car ran off the road and struck an embankment. He was taken to Sikeston Hospital.

Michael Lee Smith, 8, of Fredericktown, suffered severe leg injuries at 6:25 p.m. Sunday on Highway 67 six miles south of Fredericktown when his bicycle was struck by a car driven by James Alexander, 37, of Fredericktown.

Shooting death ruled suicide by coroner

EAST PRAIRIE — The death of Luchen Lee Banks, 44, of Des Plains, Ill. has been ruled a suicide by Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle.

Banks, who had been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luchen Henry Banks, shot himself once with a .22 caliber pistol about 5:30 a.m. Sunday at his parents home in house 32 in the housing project, Route 2.

McMikle said today the body was found in bed by Banks' wife and the pistol was lying on the floor near the bed. No apparent reason for the suicide has been established. McMikle said there would be neither an autopsy nor an inquest.

Banks was born Oct. 22, 1929 in Mississippi County and had lived in Des Plains, Ill. for 24 years. He had been employed by Capital Ambulance Service in Chicago, for 17 years.

On Oct. 28, 1950 he married Virginia Moreno who survives.

In addition to his parents and widow he is survived by four sons, Stephen Robert Banks, Richard Anthony Banks, Robert James Banks, and Keven Walter Banks, all of the home; one sister, Mrs. Jesse Jones of Chicago, and one granddaughter.

Friends may call after 5 p.m. today at the Shelby funeral home where services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. Ted

Mechanical failure is ruled out

KANSAS CITY — The National Aviation Board is continuing its investigation into the Friday afternoon crash that killed Charles Thomas Proffer of Matthews and Roy Pipkin of Kewanee when the Cesna 150, two passenger, plane they were riding in crashed near New Madrid.

"We haven't gotten all our reports in yet," Edward Lilie of the National Aviation Safety Board office here, said today. "Our on-the- scene investigation did reveal that the plane did not crash because of mechanical failure."

Authorities reported that the plane had been rented from Perry Jolliff, who operates a flight instruction school at the Sikeston airport.

A complete report on the crash will be made from the Federal Aviation Authority in Washington, D. C. in two to three weeks Lillie claimed. He said authorities are checking their files to determine if either of the men was a licensed pilot.

Proffer was reported to have been piloting the plane when it crashed.

Response expected soon to interchange proposal

Tenth District Rep. Bill D. Burlison told a group of area residents Saturday that he expects the Secretary of Transportation to respond soon to a proposal for an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road.

The Cape Girardeau Democrat spoke to about 20 people Saturday morning at Ramada Inn.

A group of area residents are working through the Chamber of Commerce to obtain an interchange to open the north Sikeston area to industrial and residential use.

The interchange would also relieve the heavy traffic flow and reduce accidents along East Malone Avenue. An information packet, compiled by the chamber for area representatives in Washington, says that between Aug. 1, 1973, and July 31 of this year, 201 accidents were recorded on East Malone Avenue.

The congressman said he wrote to the Secretary of Transportation three or four weeks ago and has received a reply saying the department is studying the proposal.

The first step is to convince the Missouri Highway Commission, which must approve the interchange before the plan goes to Washington, Burlison said.

The federal government seldom overrules the state commission if the commission rejects a highway proposal, he stressed.

"I personally think there is a great need for your project," Burlison asserted.

Burlison promised to help the city any way he could, but he said it would not be an easy, overnight project.

The city will have to make its own case, Burlison said, and work to convince the agencies which must approve the project.

Burlison was reluctant to say how long it would take to have the interchange built if everything went smoothly. However, Mayor Frank Ferrell estimated it would take about three years.

2 arrested in office burglary

Police have arrested two men for the Thursday night burglary of the office of Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore, at 314 W. North St., and one man for auto theft.

Arrested for the burglary were Andrew Jackson Sales, 210 Dixie St., and Marvin Bernard Thomas, 1509 W. North St.

Detective Sgt. Jack Patterson said today the arrests were made Saturday after Sheriff John Dennis received an anonymous tip that another man had bought a calculator from the two suspects for $40.

A calculator was among $1,200 worth of items and an undisclosed amount of cash taken in the burglary.

Thomas was arrested at 11:30 a.m. and Sales at 12:30 p.m. Both were taken into custody at their homes.

Patterson said the calculator is the only item recovered so far.

Robert Eugene Stacy Jr., 922 Davis Blvd., was arrested for the theft of an automobile belonging to Paul C. Meyers, 815 N. Kingshighway. The car was taken Thursday night from the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. parking lot on East Center Street.

Police said Stacy also admitted taking a car Aug. 12 from the parking lot at the Scott County Welfare Department on East Center Street.

Stacy was arrested at his home after he allegedly was seen in Vanduser driving the stolen car.

Other arrests announced today included: Dennis Joe Cobb, 839 Wayne St., careless and imprudent driving; Stephen William Hampton, 206 Jarvis St., disorderly conduct; Inis Bernice Hartlein, 108 Baker Lane, speeding; Willie May Ransom, 321 Dixie St., petit larceny; Ralph Hinton Clinton, Route Three, petit larceny; and Otis Ramsey, 215 Young St., maintaining a public nuisance.

Man held in Wyatt stabbing

WYATT — A knifing incident about 12:30 p.m. Sunday in Wyatt resulted in the arrest of George Greer, 30, of Wyatt who remains in custody in the Mississippi County jail in Charleston.

Deputy Sheriff Robert Smith said Greer is accused of stabbing Miss Frankie Bostic, 45, of Wyatt in the left hand with a butcher knife at the home the two shared in Wyatt. Miss Bostic were treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for the knife wound which required several stitches.

Greer was arrested by John Pearson, Wyatt City Marshall, and will be arraigned Thursday in Mississippi County magistrate court.

Democratic delegates selected

CHARLESTON — Delegates from Mississippi County to Tuesday's Democratic caucus in the Hickory Log Restaurant at Dexter will be Bob Hearnes of Charleston and Mrs. LaWanda Douglas of East Prairie.

Named as alternates at a reorganization meeting of the Mississippi County Democratic Central Committee last week were Mrs. Julie Warren of Charleston and Hunt Wellborn of East Prairie.

Hearnes and Mrs. Douglas were also re-elected to serve as chairman and vice chairman of the county central committee. Mrs. Paula Cunningham of Bertrand was re-elected secretary, and John Croft of Wyatt was elected treasurer.

Delegates attending Tuesday's caucus will elect delegates and alternates from the 10th Congressional District to attend a state committee convention Sept. 10 in Kansas City.

Thieves have busy weekend

Thieves were busy again over the weekend, stealing one car and burglarizing two cars and a house.

The stolen car, a white Corvette, was taken between 9 p.m. Saturday and 10:15 a.m. Sunday from Harvey G. Roberts, 804 E. Gladys St. The car was parked at the Roberts home when it was stolen.

Two guns and a radio were stolen from Mrs. Linda Hargraves, 302 Sunset Drive, between midnight Friday and 2:14 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Hargraves told police she was at a neighbor's house when the theft occurred.

Taken were a .22 - caliber rifle worth $60, a 20- guage shotgun worth $40 and a radio worth $20.

Freddie Warren, 1508 W. North St., told police a tape player and a tape were taken from his car between 6 and 10 a.m. Saturday while the car was parked on Sunset Drive.

Warren said the tape player was worth $80 and the tape was worth $6.

An attache case, containing personal papers, a tie and sport coat were taken from a car belonging to L. B. Luber, 207 E. Center St., sometime Saturday night while the vehicle was parked in the Merchants Parking Lot on North Kingshighway.

The attache case was valued at $50, the tie at $6 and the coat at $60.

City is growth center

Sikeston has been designated as one of 13 regional growth centers in Missouri, according to a letter received late last week from John Hequembourg, program coordinator of the state Economic Development Council.

The letter from Hequembourg certifies "that because of its potential for economic development, Sikeston has been selected to participate as a growth center in the Governor's Economic Development Council pilot program."

City Manger Charles Church said it is his understanding that the program is designed to allow the state government to give extra consideration in releasing state grants for such things as industrial development and utility line extensions.

Essentially the program opens the door for extra state aid to assist in fostering growth, Church said.

Church added the designation may give an extra boost to Sikeston's bid for an interchange on Interstate 55 at Tanner Road.

Other cities designated under the program are Farmington, Sedalia, Mexico and Independence, Church said.

Orientation held for Head Start staff

Staff members of the 22 Head Start centers in the six-county Delta Area Head Start program gathered in Sikeston this morning for the beginning of a week-long orientation.

Counties ncluded in the program are Scott, Stoddard, Mississippi, New Madrid, Dunklin and Pemiscot.

The orientation program opened at 9 a.m. today at Sikeston Activity Center, 201 S. Kingshighway.

On the morning program were C. B. Huber, Head Start director, who spoke on procedures, forms and expectations; Highway Patrol Sgt. Joe Matthews of Poplar Bluff, who presented a program on safe driving and safety precautions; David Kelley of Steele, who discussed insurance options; and Jim Friedebach, clinician and coordinator of Wescenmo in Sedalia, who spoke on training programs for the handicapped.

The afternoon program began with a presentation by Dr. Richard Cravens of Columbia, director of community mental health, who spoke to the staff from 1 to 2 p.m. about working with the handicapped.

At 2 p.m., the group was scheduled to break up into component groups. Nurses met with Jerry Spicer, a member of the Sikeston Regional Diagnostic Clinic staff, to discuss the subject, "All About the Handicapped". Social services personnel met with Dr. Cravens, while education personnel received training by the central office staff, and nutrition employes met with Nancy Kaiser of New Madrid and Dianne Mallotte of Portageville to discuss how to plan and manage Head Start food centers. The first day's orientation was scheduled to adjourn at 4 p.m.

Tuesday's program will begin at 9 a.m., with all groups except social services personnel meeting again at Sikeston Activity Center. Social services personnel are scheduled to meet at the central office in Hayward.

Nursing personnel will meet during the morning with Dr. Cravens, and social services personnel with Mrs. Joyce King of Hayti for a discussion of parent involvement.

Pearl Draine of Kansas City, an early childhood development specialist for the Office of Child Development, will meet with the education personnel. Nutrition employes will meet from 9 to 10 a.m. with Mrs. Kaiser and Mrs. Mallotte.

From 10:15 to noon, Mrs. Draine will talk to them on "Mealtime, a Pleasant Learning Experience".

Mrs. Jeanne Littell, a registered nurse from

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

No woman knows so little about a man's clothes that she doesn't know in which pocket he keeps his money.

IT PAYS TO BE VIGILANT

Vililance, alertness and prompt action can keep this country from being suckered into detrimental deals with the Soviets.

Thanks to Senator Henry Jackson of Washington, Rep. Charles Vanik of Ohio, and a few newscasters and reporters, we learned that we were all set to sell the Soviet Secret Police our latest in criminology equipment; and because the alert was sounded, the Department of Commerce, in response to a sharp crack over the knuckles by Congress, put a stop to it.

The revelation came from Rep. Vanik in a House speech when he exposed the plan of a group of American companies to exhibit law- enforcement equipment at a trade fair in the stadium of the Young Pioneers in Moscow August 14 to August 28. Vanik called the plan "a most shocking, unconscionable action ... For the sake of sales and profits, a group of American businessmen will be placing their wares on sale in Moscow for examination by the KGB."

On the Senate side of the Hill, Senator Jackson branded the proposed move an "outrage" and promptly initiated a full investigation by his Senate Committee.

Radio commentator Philip C. Clarke, on the American Security Council's "Washington Report of the Air," quoted the Commerce Department as saying that it had "offered no assistance to the American companies planning to participate in the Moscow exhibit." The Department further said that "special permission must be granted for the sales of guns, tear gas and mace."

"What it did not say, however," Clarke continued, "is that under current rules and regulations, only technology that clearly could harm the U. S. national security needs such permits. Any other equipment, such as fingerprint detection and analysis, voice print machines, stress evaluators and hard - to - forge holographic identification cards do not require special export permits and can be sold freely."

Thanks to alert and prompt action, this particular boondoggle was averted. But what about other "deals," — either existing, or in the offing? We urge Senator Jackson and his committee to take a hard look into the whole matter of present trade controls, and see that we have strict and hard rules that will prevent any such occurrences as this in the future.

THE WORKER'S
PARADISE

For well over 100 years, our world has been virtually flooded with millions of pieces of propaganda condemning the "evils of Capitalism" and extolling the virtues of Socialism. Even today, in the United States, bookshelves in schools, colleges and libraries are loaded down with hundreds of volumes by an equal number of authors, some of whom are Americans, boasting the "superiority" of Communism over Capitalism. For example, one book alone — Political Economy of Socialism — published on the 50th anniversary of the Soviet regime in Russia (1917-1967) and distributed widely throughout the United States, declares:

"The Communist Party of the Soviet Union has elaborated and is implementing a broad program for advancing the welfare of the Soviet people ... The success of the world socialist system in material production and in the improvement of the living standard of the people is of great significance. It convinces the whole world of the great vital power of the socialist system and ensures the victory of socialism over moribund capitalism."

Now and then, however, the truth leaks out — and what we see is not quite the "workers' paradise" the socialist claim to have invented. What they have really invented is a big lie.

A case in point is the brand new "Pepsi-Cola" botting plant which has just been opened in Novorossisk, U.S.S.R. The communists are boasting that at 50% of its potential capacity, the plant is already turning out 120,000 bottles of the coffee - colored carbonated beverage every day. Visiting tourists from all over the world are taken on guided tours through the factory and are told that the Pepsio-Soviet enterprise is "a symbol of a new era."

A closer look, however, reveals that the working people in the new plant are, as it has always been with the Soviet socialist system, coming out with what is known as "the wrong end of the stick."

The drink is being sold as a "delicacy" — at 55 cents for a seven- ounce bottle. At the present rate of production, and not counting the deposit on the bottle, this means that the Communist monopoly is making better than $50,000 a day in retail sales.

What about the workers? There are 56 people employed in the plant, who are paid the average Soviet wage of 83 rubles a month — which is less than $100 a month, or about $4.17 a day.

A little calculation shows that the Red monopoly, therefore, is paying the Pepsico workers less than one-half of one per cent of the retail value of the product. Even if the Communists should pay the Pepsi Company in the United States a 50% royalty, they would still be paying their workers less than one per cent of the value of the product.

Among the things that make this story incredible is not that the Communist monopoly makes vast profits (as any monopoly can), but that we actually have numbers of professors in leading colleges and universities in the U.S.A. today who teach that socialism is superior to capitalism.

The young tourist was attempting to sneak a quart of tequila back from Mexico when a border guard stopped him and asked him what was in the bottle. "Holy water from the shrine of the Virgin Mary," replied the fellow.

The official opened the bottle, took a sip and exclaimed, "This is tequila!"

"My heavens!" gasped the fellow. "Another miracle!"

THE ESTABLISHMENT
STILL THE WINNAH!

How fares the "establishment"?

Surprisingly, considering the recentness of the Vietnam war, the public's highest rating of the nation's major institutions is given to the military. Close behind are colleges/ universities and religious organizations.

At the bottom of the scale, in descending order, are labor unions, the federal government and the President.

Between these extremes, again in descending order, are: Small businesses, public schools, news media, U. S. Supreme Court, large corporations, U. S. Congress, state governments, the judicial system and local governments.

These rankings are among the early results of a survey conducted late last year by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research. A representative sample of 1,444 Americans was asked how good a job each of 15 major institutions was doing for the country. People were also asked their opinions about the honesty and morality of the leadership of 10 of the 15.

Labor union officials were given the poorest appraisal of any of the 10 institutions whose leadership was evaluated. They were followed by government officials and leaders of large corporations.

The U. S. Supreme Court was rated as the institution with the highest integrity. Leaders of small business and military officials were also viewed as having high standards of honesty and morality.

Despite numerous charges of wrongdoing that have been made against big business and low marks for leadership, the large corporations are still rated quite positively by the public. Sixty per cent of the people questioned said that the good things big businesses do outweight the bad, while only 17 per cent offered the opposite opinion.

This was a falling off from a similar ISR survey in 1950, however, when 76 per cent of the public felt that the positive aspects of big busines outweighed the bad and only 10 per cent throught otherwise.

MISSOURI TAXES
Prudence needed
if hikes to be avoided

Many Missourians, both in and out of public office, already have reluctantly accepted the belief that a tax increase in the state is inevitable in the very near future.

Well, is it inevitable? There are arguments on both sides, as the Missouri Public Expenditure Survey has pointed out in a recent report. Said the report:

"Favorable factors in the state's fiscal outlook make a tax increase illogical and unnecessary in the foreseeable future, but an early tax increase will be required unless immediate financial issues are resolved with a minimum cost to the state."

That sounds as if the Survey is straddling the fence, at first hearing. Actually, the Survey, as is its custom, is simply looking at all the facts and possibilities, both good and bad.

First, the bad news: The state faces a number of costly fiscal issues in the near future, some of which are inescapable, with others still open for decision. It is in the case of the latter that the utmost prudence in resolving them will be vital if a tax increase is to be avoided.

Among obligations which the state must find the money to satisfy are an $8 - to - $10 million supplemental welfare appropriation needed in January, more money for tax refunds and an estimated $21 million of general tax revenue that must be transferred to the state road fund because of a court decision. It may be possible to spread payment of the latter sum over a period of years, but it will have to be paid and will have to come from general revenue.

Other issues which are debatable include whether the state will pay the cost of having repealed taxes on intangible personal property and household goods — about $32 million — and legislative action on gubernatorial vetoes totaling $14 million at its September session. If the state doesn't pay the cost of the former, local governmental units will have to absorb it. The latter, of course, is entirely up to the judgment of the lawmakers.

In our view, they will probably give both matters long and careful thought. They are fully aware of the fact that any new tax increase would meet with strong resistance from the taxpayers. The 10- day veto session of the legislature is scheduled for less than two months before the general elections — a face of which the legislators also are fully conscious.

The Survey — turning to the good news — said a "significant factor weighing against a tax increase is a sharply declining birthrate which should lessen financial requirements of major state programs."

Take the state school aid program, for example. As of now, state support of elementary and secondary education requires 40 per cent of general revenue, or $418 million for the current fiscal year. That percentage was reached as a result of constant increases in state funds for schools over the past several years because of a population explosion.

But the effects of the explosion have now reached and passed their peak. The Survey declared that average daily attendance in public schools this year is expected to be 20,000 under the figure reached in the 1971-72 school year, and the teacher shortage has been replaced by an oversupply.

The lower birth rate should also lessen financial requirements for other youth programs — aid to dependent children, work training and day care, care of homeless and neglected children and child welfare. It has not yet affected colleges, but other factors are. A smaller percentage of college- age persons is enrolling and there is even competition for students among universities and colleges.

The Survey also maintains that federal revenue sharing funds have supplanted general tax revenues as a source of financing state construction so that money from the general fund ordinarily used for building can be diverted to other services. That, of course, is true as far as it goes. Right now, the state is pretty well caught up with its building needs, but, as we have warned before, there is no assurance that federal revenue sharing will continue as a permanent thing.

Another factor: there have been massive expansions of state services in the past 20 years or so. Appropriations for general state services have increased by 191 per cent over the last decade and 545 per cent over the last two decades. That is far faster than increasing in workload of state services or inflation, and it ought to be enough to last for some time.

PEOPLE, NOT
BOOST AMERICA'S FUTURE

Back in the days of the Great Depression -- 40 or more years ago -- governmental leaders were telling the country that the nation had reached maturity. They foresaw an end to growth and believed that "sharing the wealth" was the only fair way to proceed in the future. With a lack of imagination - individual initiative all too common in most politicians, the leaders of the day could envision no new frontiers and no great breakthroughs in science and technology. The goal then was simply to divide the existing pie.

In retrospect, the political shortsightedness of those days seems hard to believe. And yet today, there is somewhat of a parallel. Many political leaders and officials are once again expouding the no-growth doomsday philosophy. Everyone is being told they must learn to live with less and that we have outstripped the life support of Earth. But once again, the unimaginative can see no further than the status quo. They can visualize no new breakthroughs in science and technology. And no allowance is made for the initiative inherent in human nature or for the potential discoveries of inquiring minds. After 40 years, a growing governmental bureaucracy is dedicated to see that everyone gets a fair share of less and less.

It is time people looked back of the long sweep of history. They would find good reason to suspect the present era of no-growth defeatism is not too much different than the mature economy doctrine of the 1930s. That doctrine was smothered in one of the greatest periods of growth and advancement ever experienced by mankind. With the opening of the nuclear and space age with broad new breakthroughs on a thousand scientific fronts, there is no more reason to believe the pessimists of today than those of 1933.

TWO AUTHORITIES
PREDICT INFLATION
WILL COOL BY FALL

Council of Economic Advisers chairman Herbert Stein says inflation is the biggest problem confronting the economy.

He said the government should resist stimulative actions as long as unemployment stays below six per cent.

He predicted inflation would drop significantly below the more than ten per cent annual rate by the end of the year if harvests are good.

Economists at the First National City Bank feel that "price inflation in the U. S. probably will cool off substantially in the second half of 1974 and during 1975.

"For one thing," they said, "many raw material prices probably have overshot the levels justified by fundamental worldwife supply and demand forces. Cooling commodity price pressures will be encouraged by the continued slow down in worldwide real growth in 1974, and the slow down in demand pressures this year."

H.L. Hunt

TO "SHOCK" THE PEOPLE

As if the American people have not had enough "shocks" as a result of wage and price controls plus hyper- inflation during the past two years. powerful voices are calling for more of the same medicine that almost destroyed the patient in the first place.

Demands from "liberal" politicians, union bosses and left- leaning opinion- molders forced the calamitous try-out of wage- price controls which built up the distortions and pressures to launch the inevitable hyperinflation of the past few months. It is sheer folly for Teamster boss Frank Fitzsimmons, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns and others to again impose controls on the American people and economy.

This would be a "shock" that would really set off the skyrocket of uncontrollable inflation. Prior to Hitler, Germans literally had to have a wheelbarrow full of paper marks to buy a loaf of bread. This destroyed the middle class and left a once-rich and civilized nation ripe for the little Austrian demagogue.

We have been down the road of false hope that is rigid control of prices and wages, followed by "phases" of bureaucratic- and- pressure-group- controlled increases. Surely the Congress and the President learned that lesson this time -- if they did not learn it during World War II and Korea, but if the loud voices demand controls while the people are silent, then we will have controls -- and disaster. The shortages of 1973 and 1974 will look like affluence in comparison with the empty factories and abandoned mines and drilling sites sure to result from the catastrophe of a controlled economy. Inside Labor

by Victor Riesel

Inside White House: Why Rockefeller rushed to telephone Meany first

WASHINGTON — Well, this was the week that was for me. It started ghastly enough with the whining of police bullets lashing lethally at a meager demonstration in a Lisbon (Portugal) square but happily is winding up with the gay chatter and clatter of American politics as usual.

And for the moment most of the chatter is Nelson Rockefeller as he jets in and out of town, clears all telephone wires and prepares to open doors which, for the moment, President Jerry Ford may find slightly sticky.

It has not been recorded that one of the first-- if not the first -- calls Nelson or Rocky (no one really calls him Mr. Rockefeller) put in after being nominated Vice President-designate was to labor chief George Meany.

The ebullient ex- New York governor Tuesday morning, went from Jerry Ford's Oval Office to the White House press room and to the State Department for a family lunch with Henry Kissinger and children in the James Monroe Room. The Vice President- to-be, the record will show, had telephoned only Dick Nixon in the interim.

But at noon he used one of Dr. Kissinger's phones to call Meany to tell him of the formal nomination. Meany wasn't in his office but returned the call later through the White House switchboard. He missed Nelson. But the latter returned the call that night by radiophone while airborne back to his Seal Harbor, Me., vacation house.

Of course, Meany and Rockefeller have been friends for over 30 years -- ever since the latter was wartime coordinator of Inter- America Affairs and used the then relatively unknown AFL secretary- treasurer on some diplomatic sorties. It was actually the first time for Meany in top echelon international affairs. And he has not forgotten.

But there's far more significance to this rush to the phone than remembrance of things past. It is the Ford administration's tactical move to swing national labor leaders into the fight on the kind of monstrous inflation which billows up as much out of a carpenter's $108- a- day new pay rate (by 1976 in California) as from high interest rates.

True, a week earlier Jerry Ford had invited Meany in for a 45- minute noontime chat. It had been very pleasant. Exchange of somewhat stilted cures for inflation. The significance was not in the pleasantries (there was not much more according to reports) but in the fact that Meany had been invited into the White House for the first time since June 11, 1973. And that this was the first nose- to-nose across- the- table conversation ever held between both men.

The significance of this visit and of Rocky's telephone call is in the fact that Jerry Ford was willing to acknowledge that Meany is labor's envoy to the administration. Dick Nixon never granted that. Meany never forgave him for it. For Meany sees any rejection of himself as a reflection on the AFL-CIO itself as a sovereign American force.

Thus Jerry Ford, with an astuteness which few now grant, broke the ice. He is a new element. He has not really ever sat alone with top labor leaders -- except for his good friend, the AFL-CIO's maritime labor chief, Paul Hall, whose department covers some eight million members. Paul and Jerry have been close for a long time. And when they saw each other in the Oval Room on Thursday afternoon, I wager that after Hall said his first "Mr. President" it was "Paul and Jerry."

But it will be easier with Rockefeller opening doors to labor (and the blacks and the liberals, et al.). Rockefeller and Meany are New Yorkers. The ex- Governor long has been supported by Meany, who earlier this week directed that the AFL-CIO strongly support the confirmation of the Vice President- designate. About the same time Ray Corbett, president of the 2 million-member New York State AFL-CIO, got off two letters, one to "Dear Mr. President" and another to "Dear Nelson," ecstatically backing the nomination. So from New York, mostly the construction trades, which were Cick Nixon's labor base away back in May 1970, Rockefeller and Meany will ripple out across the nation and attempt to bring some sense to the economy.

But don't get the impression that Jerry Ford won't do his thing. As gently as it can be put with a big-spirited ("Hiya, fella") chap like Rockefeiler, the latter was told what his role will be. He is not a threat to Ford. He will not run for President. He will open doors until Ford gets around to doing it himself.

Ford has known the operations of American labor ever since he got his A in a university course on "Organized Labor." And Ford is an infighter. Few bother to recall how he and another Congressman, Mel Laird, took control of the House Republican bloc by ousting the ancient late Charles Halleck ten years ago.

In the words of one labor leader who has known Ford a long time, "Watch those Midwest fellows, especially Ford, who has a terrific fight manager, Mel Laird."

Also, the open- door policy and Meany's affection for Rocky will quiet some of Meany's traditional anti- White House thunder. And when Democratic National Committee chairman Robert Strauss asks next time, well, where can the labor crowd go anyway but with us, Meany need only wave his cigar towards the open White House door.

Only a few weeks ago Meany described Ford as a "conservative with integrity." When, a few minutes lager, he was reminded that he once had said the Democratic party was "in shambles," and asked what he now believes, he retorted: "Well, they are now in shambles plus two years."

Washington-Merry-Go-Round

by Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Military Duds

WASHINGTON — Not long ago, the Army produced a tractor- trailer that was supposed to grind over rugged terrain and also churn across rivers and lakes. The brass hats assured one another that it was well worth the $98.1 million that had been sunk in the project.

Triumphantly, they drove one of the remarkable vehicles onto the calm waters of the Chesapeke Bay for testing. While test officers watched slack- jawed, the GOER, as it was hopefully called, slipped slowly from sight beneath its own ripple to join the crabs and oyster shells on the murky bottom.

If the GOERS have failed to go far, they are in familiar company. For years, we have exposed how the Pentagon wastes billions of dollars for military equipment that is often inferior.

Perhaps the American people have become so accustomed to gross waste and cost overruns that they are now too calloused to care. But we keep returning to the story in the belief that the brass hats are more careful when they are working in the glare of the spotlight.

The two most celebrated clinkers were probably the Air Force's giant C-54A transport plane, with its staggering cost overruns, and the F-111 fighter plane, with its mysterious crashes. There was also the M16 rifle, which was supposed to give combat soldiers extra fire power but, instead, jammed and misfired on the Vietnam battlefields.

The Army, seeking an all-weather helicopter for tactical air support, also spent nearly half a billion dollars on the Cheyenne helicopter. It was neither air worthy nor battle worthy. The Sheridan tank was designed as a fast, light attack vehicle, with both conventional fire power and a sight- guided missile. The Sheridans cost $335,000 apiece. Yet, without modification, they lacked sufficient armor for duty in Vietnam and proved too sophisticated for easy repair.

Dismayed, Congress turned down a request for a new $700,000 main battle tank. But the Army simply changed the name and is now back on Capitol Hill again looking for more money.

The Navy's 1052- Class destroyer was so badly designed that early models proved to be floating firetraps. A greater waste, the Mark 48 torpedo, cost the Navy a cool $3 million, yet 90 per cent of them didn't function satisfactorily.

This is only a partial listing, of course, of the Pentagon's multimillion- dollar blunders. Fabulous sums have gone down the golden drain for weapons that won't work, spare parts that are never used and contracts that should never have been signed.

The generals and admirals explain solemnly that for America's armed forces to remain supreme on land, sea and in the air, they must stay ahead in the development of new weapons systems. Military superiority cannot be sacrificed, they contend, for cost efficiency.

It is an argument Congress has been buying for three decades. All the military brass had to do was mention the magic words. "national security," and Congress was ready to shower them with greenbacks. The military budgets have never been subjected to the penny-pinching that members of Congress apply to welfare spending, housing programs, educational appropriations and the like.

This has tempted the military dreamers to seek ever more exotic equipment -- a general's equivalent of a child's visions of sugar plums. As the dreams are translated into the reality of steel, the top brass have long lists of wishes.

These need have no relationship to existing technology or the industry's ability to produce. In fairness to the defense contractors, they are often called upon to accomplish technological miracles to satisfy the whims of the military dreamers. Practicality and cost are secondary.

As the procurement planning expands with each new appropriation, so does the planning staff. The top planners are judged less by the new weapons they produce than by the size of the staffs they command. After all, it will take a war to determine whether the weapons systems work. the promotions go, therefore, to those with the most subordinates.

Neither efficiency nor economy are as important in the Pentagon as empre building. Those who produce useless equipment are seldom demoted or dismissed. But those whose bureaucratic empires start crumbling are on the skids.

Under this system, the armed forces have grown fat and unimaginative and top heavy. An astonishing 68 per cent of the Army are now commissioned officers, noncoms or specialists. Thus the chiefs literally outnumber the Indians.

Commanding 2.1 million men today are 43 more three-star and four- star generals and admirals, 1,752 more colonels and Navy captains than commanded 12 million men at the end of World War II. An incestuous relationship has also grown up between the procurement officers and the defense contractors. Nearly all contractors employ former military officers in their sales divisions. These arms peddlers unashamedly flash their service academy rings in pursuit of contracts.

And procurement officers, as they make their multimillion- dollar decisions, often are thinking about fat jobs with contractors after they retire.

The irony is that the same Pentagon people who cry in the name of national defense for more weapons are responsible, because of their blundering and waste, for diminishing the ability of America to defend herself.

Benton club recognized

BENTON – The Benton Jaycees received an award for a playgound renovation project during a recent Missouri Jaycees Region 8 meeting at Farmington. The Region consists of 26 Southeast Missouri clubs.

The new Benton club was extended its charter by the Cape Girardeau Jaycees in May.

The Benton club worked several months to raise funds to renovate the playgound area in the city park. Old equipment was repaired and repainted, and new equipment will be installed in September.

The Benton Jaycees plan to use the preoceeds from a Benton Neighbor Day "I've Got It" stand and a tractor pull contest to assist the Chamber of Commerce in purchasing the Benton ball park.

Brakes blamed for accident

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP) — Faulty brakes have been blamed for an accident with a fraternity-owned fire truck that injured 22 youths near the Southeast Missouri State University campus Sunday.

Authorities said the fire truck, owned by the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity, had 30 persons aboard when it overturned while turning a corner.

Seven persons remained hospitalized today, with 15 others treated and released. One coed, Karen Hendrickson, 17, of Florissant, was transferred to a St. Louis hospital with a head injury.

The others injured included Tina Miller, St. Louis; Denise Spinale, 18, Webster Groves; Steve Speno, 19, Florissant; Chris Schaefer, 17, Cape Girardeau; Gary Perry, 18, Charleston, and Linda Groslaub, 18, Dellwood.

WONDERFUL WORLD OF FASHION

At Wit's End

By Erma Bombeck

A reader in California has asked me to make a comment on men's threshold of pain.

It seems her husband recently was advised to wear contact lenses. The ceremony he stages makes the Rose Bowl parade look like an impulse.

"First," she wrote, "he spreads a white Turkish towel on the dining room table, takes an antique shaving cabinet off the mantle and sets it in front of him. Around this, he arranges three other mirrors (including a hand mirror with gold angels floating around). Then he gets a little custard cup half -filled with water to wash one lens in, and opens cases of little bottles of wetting and soaking solution.

"He has a gadget of rubber with a tiny cup upturned at the end to lift out by suction the lens from the upper part or the extreme lower part of his eyeball. Then he is ready to insert the lens, he summons me to assist. It eats up a good half hour.

"When evening come, we repeat the entire operation to take them out."

What can I tell you? Some men can endure a war and then go to bed for three days after they've had their teeth cleaned.

The same man who can cut a fish hook out of his hand will discover a bee in the car, slam on the brakes, exit and yell back, "Don't fiddle with it. Just get whatever you can for the car."

If I have any observatons to make on pain it is that it's a real attention grabber and it's a rare man who does not have his story of bravery to relate.

At a party one night, my husband and I listened in absolute horror to a man tell us in datail how he got his finger severed in a power mower and remained conscious during the entire ordeal.

Not to be outdone, another man joined us and told a grisly story of how he picked up a hitchhiker and was shot. My husband opened his mouth and I knew he was going to tell that pitiful story of how he scraped his arm on the rose bush. He described his surprise at seeing all the blood and quickly added that he acted instinctively to stop the bleeding and drove himself to the hospital emergency ward. I have to admit by the time he finished he made that simple scratch sound like a valve bi -pass performed in Houston.

Mrs. California, at that moment, I would have given a fortune to see your husband tell of how he readies the room for surgery before inserting his contact lenses.

Women's threshold of pain is supposedly quite high. But even we have a limit to our endurance.

Sisters pledge vows in double ceremony

CHARLESTON — In a double ceremony at 5:30 p.m. July 25 in the United Methodist Church, Miss Susan Hunter Shelby pledged marriage vows with James Raymond Winchester, and her sister, Miss Barbara "Boo" Shelby, exchanged vows with James Dabney McMurray Jr. The Rev. John Hayes Jr. of East Prairie performed the ceremony.

Parents of the brides are Mr. and Mrs. Travis Shelby Jr. of East Prairie. Winchester is the son of Mrs. Tom Masterson of Benton, Ky., and W. H. Winchester Jr. of East Prairie. McMurray is the son of Mrs. J. D. McMurray of Meridian, Miss., and the late J. D. McMurray.

Matching arch candelabra, holding 30 white tapers, centered by a bird cage candelabrum, each entwined with smilax and gypsophila, formed the background for the candlelight ceremony. Woodwardia palm trees were placed on either side of the choir loft, which was covered with plumosa, gypsophila and camellia foliage.

Twin spiral candelabra, each holding 30 tapers, were placed on either end of the communion table, which was centered with an arrangement of camellia foliage and baby's breath.

Completing the candlelight setting were four nine- branch tree candelabra placed on the steps inside the communion rial.

Windows of the church were banked with greenery, and the family pews were marked by hurricane lamps. Pews for sorority sisters were marked with single candles, and all other pews were adorned with citrus green and yellow streamers and sprigs of fern.

Prior to the ceremony, Matt Bryant of Charleston played a selection of music at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Richard Frazier as she sang, "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "The Lord's Prayer". Bryant also accompanied Steve England of East Prairie as he sang, "Sunrise, Sunset" and "The Wedding Song". The processional was "Trumpet Voluntary", and the recessional was "Tocata".

Miss Susan Shelby was presented in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of ivory delustered satin combined with imported Brussels Lace. The empre bodice was fashioned with a decollete neckline, lavishly adorned with insertions of Brussels lace, with long slim sleeves, which were etched at the wrist in repeated lace patterns.

Her bell- shaped skirt was designed with wide panels, creating deep fold pleats in the front with back panel flowing into a chapel train. The inserts of the pleats were accented with lace appliques.

Her headdress was an antebellum hat of ballibuntle straw, softly draped in imported silk illusion in ivory, accented with silk lily of the valley in pale pink and ivory. A long formal veil of silk illusion was also attached to the headdress. Her bridal bouquet was of ivory rosebuds, baby's breath, stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Entering on the arm of her grandfather, Travis Shelby Sr. of East Prairie, Miss Barbara Shelby, was attired in a formal gown of ivory English illusion with hand-drawn Venise lace over ivory silk peau de soie. The Basque- style bodice was designed with a lace, sculptured, u- shaped neckline and brief simple sleeves. The bodice was re-embroidered and appliqued with Venise lace motifs attached by hand. Simple elegance was again expressed in the princess silhouette of her gown, designed with simulated panels on the skirt created of handmade lace in garland pattern which flowed into a court train.

Scattered at intervals on the gown were re-embroidered motifs of lace, and she carried a bridal bouquet of ivory rosebuds, baby's breath, stephanoiis, and lily of the valley. Her headdress was a mantilla-designed Juliet bandeau of English illusion, bordered in the Venise lace designed for her gown.

Miss Pam Kriese was maid of honor for Miss Susan Shelby, and Mrs. David Williams served as her sister's matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Bill Maurer of Indianapolis, Ind., Miss Lisa Blackman of East Prairie, Mrs. Bert Johnston of Pensacola, Fla., Mrs. Bobby Morris of Jackson, Miss., Miss Kathy Caldwell of Jackson, Tenn., and Miss Sonja Shealy of Hyannis Port, Mass.

Miss Barbara Shelby chose her sister, Miss Mari T. Shelby, as her maid of honor and Mrs. Joe Oliver, her cousin, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Tomee Ann Britt of East Prairie, Miss Rebel Story of Charleston, Mrs. Edgar C. Marshall of Sturdivant, Mrs. Stuart Bain of East Prairie, Miss Puddin Buchler of Greenville, Miss., and Miss Margo Trimble of Natchez, Miss.

The attendants were gowned in identical dresses of citrus tone, silk screen organza over imported cotton. The empire bodice was designed with a permanently pleated Bertha-style collar which created brief sleeves. Bands of aquamarine satin defined the waistlines. The A- line skirts were unadorned and worn over a skirt of citrus and white gingham checked cotton.

Each attendant alternately completed her attire with either a citrus, woven straw, Southern Belle picture hat, banded in ivory Venise lace insertion, through which was drawn aquamarine satin ribbon terminating in a back bow, and carried bouquets of yellow roses, daisies and smilaz greenery; or they carried a citrus, imported, voille parasol designed especially for their gown, to which was attached a floral arrangement of yellow roses, daisies and smilaz greenery.

Miss Ashleigh Williams of Charleston, niece of the brides, was flower girl. She wore a turquoise organza gown with matching bow and flower in her hair. She carried a natural straw basket of rose petals. Steven Winchester of Charleston was ringbearer. He wore a Moygashel- linen English page suit of natural, trimmed in ecru, lace. He carried an antique pillow of satin and Brussels lace.

Hense Winchester of Sikeston served his brother as best man. Winchester's groomsmen were Albert Leigh of Paris, Tenn., Mark Adamson of Jefferson City, Wes Fewell of Columbia, Tom Phillips and Bill Kruger of Denver, Colo., Tim Myder of Kansas City and Bobby McTigue of East Prairie.

Greg McMurray of Meridian, Miss., served his brother as best man. His groomsmen were Wick Eatherly of Tchula, Miss., Bill Allen of Belzoni, Miss., Mike Bastari of Indianola, Miss., and Manny Mitchell, Jim Lauderdale and Dee Brookshire of Meridian.

Ushers were David Williams of Charleston and Bill Bryant, Joe Oliver and Lee Felts of East Prairie. Oliver and Felts also served as candlelighters.

A reception for approximately 800 wedding guests was held following the ceremony at Ramada Inn of Sikeston. At the guest registers were Miss Wanda Blankenship of New Orleans, La., and Miss Janey Britt of East Prairie.

Three tables, draped in white net, caught up at intervals with lily of the valley, centered with three-branched silver candelabra with white tpaers, were used for the buffet supper, wedding cakes, punch and the champagne fountain. Two four- tier wedding cakes were topped with multi-colored fresh flowers.

Providing music for the reception was the Robert Jones Combo of Cape Girardeau. Rice bags, turquoise satin tulips on stems, were passed out by Dottie and Richie Gregory of East Prairie.

Serving at the reception were Miss Martha Nichols and Mrs. Erskin Ramsey of Birmingham, Ala., Miss Laurie Forestall of Bay St. Louis, Miss., Mrs. Hense Winchester of Sikeston, Mrs. Wilson Eatherly of Tchula, Miss Cheri Carter of Springfield, Miss Suzanne Yates of Lexington, Miss., and Miss Sally Waring of Vicksburg, Miss.

The new Mrs. Winchester is a graduate of East Prairie High School and University of Mississippi at Oxford, Miss., where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. She will resume teaching third grade this fall at Hearnes Elementary School in Charleston.

Winchester is a graduate of Charleston High School and attended University of Missouri- Columbia, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

The new Mrs. McMurray, an East Prairie High School graduate, also attended the University of Mississippi, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. She will do her student teaching this fall in Morley.

McMurray is a graduate of Meridian High School and University of Mississippi, where he was a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Winchester honeymooned at Tan-Tar-A, a resort near Osage Beach, and will make their home in East Prairie.

The McMurrays spent their honeymoon in Marco Island, Fla., and are now at home in Charleston.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Winchester Jr. and Mrs. J. D. McMurray were hosts at a rehearsal dinner for 108 guests, including members of the wedding party and out-of- town family members, on July 26 at Ramada Inn of Sikeston.

Foeste center of attention

By BILL HARRISON

CHAFFEE — The City of Chaffee turned out at Harmon Field Friday night to pay tribute to the man most responsible for the success of the city's Junor Babe Ruth state champions in 1974 and baseball in general in the city, James A. "Buck" Foeste.

It was the concensus of every citizen in Chaffee that Buck is the one most responsible for the baseball program which has risen to such heights in the past year.

On hand to present Mr. Foeste with a plaque to commemorate his dedication to the baseball program of Chaffee was Neil Stubbs, the first little league player in the city.

Amanda Duncan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindon Duncan, presented Jim's wife, Mildred, with a bouquet of roses. Mr. Jack Burnett Jr. presented Mr. Foeste with a check and a newspaper which contained the story of his achievements. Jack Burnett Sr. made the presentation of the Key to the city.

The highlight of Foeste's career was the winning of the Missouri state Jr. Babe Ruth tournament for the first time this year. The towns 13- year - old All-Stars shared the title in 1972.

This years team competed in the National Midwest Sectional in Ottawa, Kansas earlier this month.

"The city of Ottawa went out of the way for us," noted Lindon Duncan, one of the team coaches. "We had the best club there but a rain delay set us back and actually cost us the first game," he continued. "Chaffee represented the state excellently. You won't find a better group of boys and none of it would have been possible if it hadn't been for Buck," Lindon said.

The Chaffee players had a fine experience in playing in the tournament and making the trip.

"The city of Ottawa always had something planned for us to do," said Scott Wachter, Chaffee's outstanding pitcher and hitter. "I consider it the highlight of my life," he went on. "It had an effect on all lives whether we won or not," Scott stated.

"We stayed with foster parents who owned a clothing store and they had a sign which read "Welcome Nebraska" but changed it to "Welcome Missouri" for us." "We stayed with people who lived in Ottawa and we played Ottawa in the last game and the people we stayed with rooted for us instead of for their home team. That's how nice they were," Scott said.

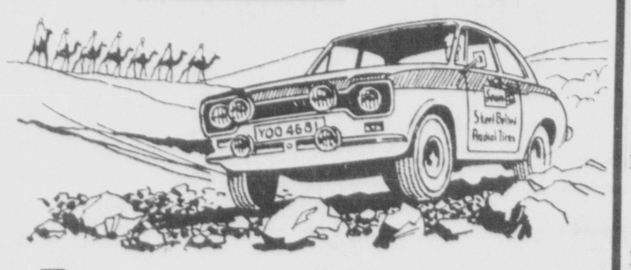

Chaffee won the sportsmanship trophy with an unanimous vote of the 12 umpires that worked the game.

Mr. Foeste was as proud of the sportsmanship trophy as he would have been if we had won the tournament," Wachter stated.

James A. "Buck" Foeste is congratulated by a group of players after being honored Friday night by the citizens of Chaffee for his contribution to the youth of the city.

Cards lose first place

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Marshall, the Los Angeles Dodgers' relief pitcher deluxe, accepted congratulations for his superb performance, then said, "To get out of something like that you have to be lucky."

Marshall, in his 84th game this season, entered a bases loaded, none out situation Sunday, facing the go-ahead run. But he nailed three batters in a row, striking out two, to preserve a 9-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The victory, the Dodgers' fifth in their last six games and second in a row over the staggering Cardinals, kept them 2½ games in front of Cincinnati in the National League West.

The defeat, coupled with a double victory by Pittsburgh at San Diego, knocked the Cardinals out of first place in the NL East and left them one-half game behind Pittsburgh.

"Mike Marshall has been super all year," said Jimmy Wynn, who drove in two runs, his 90th and 91st of the year.

"He pitchers every day and is just fantastic. What else can you say about the man?"

Marshall, ever the reluctant hero, said he made good pitches during the critical situation in the sixth inning. "But I also made good pitches the other night. I just wasn't lucky," he added.

It was Friday that Marshall surrendered a ninth-inning single which broke a 1-1 tie and led to a St. Louis victory.

This time he pitched out of the jam brilliantly, preserving Andy Messersmith's 15th win with his 19th save.

The Dodgers based 14 hits, including Don Cey's 15th home run which highlighted a five- run first inning against losing pitcher Alan Foster, 7-9.

Messersmith pitched into the sixth before leaving with a run in, the bases loaded, no one out and the Dogers ahead, 6-3.

That's when Marshall appeared. He got Ted Simmons to pop out and then fanned Ken Reitz and Mike Tyson.

The Dodgers sewed it up with three runs in their half of the inning.

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Aug. 26, the 238th day of 1974. There are 127 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1920, the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution went into effect, giving women the same voting rights as men.

On this date:

In 1316, artillery was said to have been used for the first time—in the battle of Crecy in northern France.

In 1765, Massachusetts Gov. Thomas Hutchinson was accused of favoring the British Stamp Act and a mob sacked his home.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler demanded that France turn over the Saar to Germany.

In 1937, Japan blockaded Chinese shipping.

In 1942, in World War II, France's Vichy government announced the dissolution of the French senate.

In 1945, at the end of the war, Japanese envoys boarded the U.S. battleship "Missouri" to receive their surrender instructions.

Ten years ago: Student and Buddhist riots forced the resignation of the government of Premier Nguyen Khanh in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: President Nixon gave a birthday party at the White House for his predecessor, Lyndon Johnson.

One year ago: Skylab 2 passed the halfway point on its 59-day journey in space.

Today's birthdays: General Maxwell Taylor is 71. Mexican painter Rufino Tamayo is 72.

Thought for today: There is nothing so stupid as the educated man, if you get off the thing he was educated in—Will Rogers.

Ann Landers

Parents feel they have failed

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened between parents and children in the last 15 years? The Bible says, "Raise up a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it." Do you believe it? I don't.

Our own children are living proof. We have four. I stayed home and took care of them. We always went to church together. They had plenty of love, responsibility and discipline. Everything was fine until they started high school or went to college. Within six months they fell in with friends who could twist and turn them any which way. "Peer pressure," they call it. Well, whatever it is I don't understand how it could have negated all the years of love and good training.

Our sons and daughters look like bums. They have no interest in decent clothes. They tell us they are agnostics. Three are college graduates, yet they can't finds jobs they like. They think it is hypocritical to do work that isn't "rewarding, exciting and stimulating." Don't they realize that life isn't all fun and pleasure?

Ann, you can do a lot of good by printing this letter and letting our children know that we, as parents, are fed up with their scraggly appearance, foul language, and total disrespect for authority.

My husband is in his early 50s and he is a broken man. We cry for each other, and for the thousands of other parents who feel they have failed. We did our best and can't figure out what went wrong.

Yes, we know many children go the right way, but this letter is for parents, like ourselves, who are sick at heart because we raised a generation of messed-up misfits. What can you say to us? -- Failures

Dear Friends; Don't despair. The jury is still out. Many children "come home again" -- if the door is open and a light is in the window. I've seen some plenty far-out kids do a complete reversal and become extremely conservative, even square. It could happen to yours -- and I pray it does.

Dear Ann: I am dead serious about this and I need an answer. For three years I've been going with a married man who is very much in the public eye and considered a national V. I. P.

We have an excellent relationship on all levels. But, as one must expect in a situation such as ours, there must be some compromises. I find myself doing more and more of the giving and it's making me miserable. His last minute cancellations because of public appearances where he is expected to bring his wife are becoming more frequent and wildly frustrating. Last night I received 30 minutes notice. The dinner I had prepared with great care ended up in the garbage can.

I have several alternatives and I hope you will help me select the best one. Should I:
(a) Go into therapy?
(b) Drop him and find someone else?
(c) Hang in there and keep my mouth sut?
(d) Open my mouth in the hope that his wife will throw him out and he will marry me?
--Hidden And Hurting.

Dear H And H: Plan B is the best, but make sure the next man you pick is not married.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law." (Galatians 5:22-23)

PRAYER: O God, we ask Your help, believing You will listen to our cry and our confessions and will forgive us our sins. Renew us by the power of Your Spirit. In Jesus' name. Amen.

One-Minute Bonanza... lasts all night long!

Every night, too. From 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. If you use One-Plus Dialing to call any Missouri city farther than 18 miles away, the minimum charge is for one minute instead of three.

The special one-minute rate is a real bonanza for quick calls—like making hotel reservations or saying "I love you." The chart below lets you compare One-Plus night rates with other time periods and types of calls between selected Missouri cities.

SELECTED MISSOURI CITIES AND MILEAGE GROUPINGS	One-Plus Dialing								Operator-Assisted ALL DAYS • ALL HOURS

FARM TRACTOR AUCTION

Tuesday, Sept. 3rd, 1974 -- 12:30 PM
Sikeston, Missouri 63801
Location: 3/4 Mile East on Hwy. 62 from I-55 Interchange.

NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES will be selling between 200 and 300 farm tractors at its GRAND OPENING SALE, many of them being current models in the most popular makes and models. This new tractor selling facility is the finest in the central part of the United States, if not in the entire country. Its president is KENNETH HULL and, while Kenneth is changing his location for doing business, he isn't changing his honorable, dependable manner of dealing with his customers no matter who they are or where they're located. The well known, popular PETE YOKLEY will be the Auctioneer and he will have with him his excellent selling team. Just a few of the many things you'll like about NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES are: Buying TRACTORS ONLY at an afternoon sale ... Buying field equipment right off the lot without having to wait for it to come up for auction ... Largest loading docks in the Midwest to accommodate 12 to 15 trucks at the same time ... Prompt loading and unloading ... Lot crew available to start and check out tractors with you before the sale ... Fair handling of any consignments that come into the lot for selling (consigned tractors WILL NOT BE SOLD LAST) ... Comfortable lobby area both upstairs & downstairs ... Private offices for the convenience of our customers ... Plenty of parking room ... Extremely large selling arena with seating for several hundred ... PROMPT SETTLEMENTS soon after close of the sale for all tractors sold in that day's sale.

There will be trading on the lot daily and NATIONWIDE TRACTOR SALES will have competent buyers and covering the entire mid-section of the United States. You have the choice of selling equipment and tractors to NATIONWIDE at any time or of consigning to one of our sales at a very reasonable commission charge. While you're in Sikeston for the NATIONWIDE TRACTOR AUCTION, you'll have the opportunity to attent two more regular equipment auctions, both of which have some fine equipment in them. Mark September 3rd on your calendar today and MEET US IN SIKESTON!

Terms: Everything must be paid for day of sale. Cash, Cashier's & Certified checks accepted; other checks taken with bank letter if customer isn't financially known to us.

Auto accidents hurt 4 in city

Four people were hurt in two separate traffic accidents over the weekend in Sikeston, according to police.

A three- car accident at 2 p.m. Saturday resulted in Doris Jenkins, 25, and Heather Jenkins, 3, both of 534 N. Ranney being treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital for minor injuries.

Police said the accident occurred at the corner of East Malone Avenue and Ralph Street when a truck reportedly pulled out of Ralph Street and into the path of a car traveling west on Malone Avenue, driven by Sadonna Marlene Thompson, 24, of 409 Wallace.

Police said she swerved into the eastbound lane to avoid the truck and hit a car driven by Jackie E. Hacket, 27, of 215 William St. The Jenkins car, also eastbound struck the Hacket car in the side.

Neither Hacket nor the Thompson woman were injured.

The driver of the truck apparently did not stop.

At 11:55 a.m. Sunday a car driven by Alice Ruth Adams, 28, of Benton Route One, struck a car driven by Dean Alvin Pack, 80, 734 Park Ave. at the intersection of College and Ranney streets.

Marilyn Jones, 17, of Benton Route One was treated at the hospital for a low back sprain, and Alice Jones, 29, also of Benton Route One, was treated for a bruise. Both were passengers in the Adams car.

The Adams car hit the Pack car in the right rear, according to police.

No arrests were made.

Alexander came over a hill, applied brakes, swerved and struck the bicycle, the highway patrol said.

The boy was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown, then transferred to St. John's Mercy Hospital in St. Louis.

Willie Divins, 31, of Malden suffered minor injuries at 11:30 p.m. Saturday in a three- car accident on Highway 62 two miles east of Malden.

The accident occurred when his car crossed the center line and sideswiped a car driven by Charles Lee, 41, of Malden, then collided head on with a third car driven by Richard Campbell, 34, of Malden.

Also suffering minor injuries were two passengers in the Lee car, William Humphrey, 28, of Parma and Bobby Wilson, 23, of Malden. All of the injured were taken to Dexter Memorial Hospital.

Kennie Green, 16, of Chicago suffered minor injuries at 2:30 p.m. Saturady in a three- car accident on Highway 61 two miles north of Steele.

The accident occurred when Willie Daniels, 36, of Gould, Ark., lost control of his car, which crossed the center line, struck a car driven by Opal Roser, 68, of Evansville, Ind., bounced off and struck a car driven by Green, who was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial in Hayti.

Thomas Crowley, 40, of Poplar Bluff received minor injuries at 11:40 a.m. Saturday one mile north of Silva on Highway 67 when the left rear tire blew out, causing him to lose control of his car, which ran off the pavement and overturned.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff for treatment.

James Gibson, 36, of Arnold received minor injuries at 10:45 p.m. Saturday on Highway 61 one mile south of Brewer when his car ran into the back of a car driven by Ralph Goellmer, 51, of Perryville.

Michael Clifton, 25, of Perryville, a passenger in the Gibson car, and Vera Goellmer, 52, of Perryville, a passenger in the Goellmer car, also suffered minor injuries.

The accident occurred as the Goellmer car was making a right turn into a private drive and was struck by the Gibson vehicle, spinning the Goellmer car around until it came to rest in a ditch.

The injured were taken to the hospital in Ste. Genevieve.

Sheila Bohnert, 22, of Perryville, received moderate injuries at 10 a.m. Saturday on Highway 61 in Perryville when her car was struck from behind by a car driven by Ida Wirth, 67, of Perryville.

Also injured were Eldon Bohnert, 2, who received minor injuries, and Chrystal Bohnert, 30, who suffered moderate injuries. All of the injured were taken to Perry County Hospital in Perryville.

The accident occurred when the Wirth woman applied the brakes of her vehicle, which slid on wet pavement and struck the Bohnert car.

William Rhodes, 20, of Advance received minor injuries at 4 p.m. Saturday on Route 25 south of the Advance city limits when he lost control of his pickup while passing another vehicle and ran off the road and overturned.

Paul Beussink, 18, of Advance, also suffered minor injuries. Both were taken to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Mark Stevens, 18, of Omaha, Neb., suffered minor injuries when his car collided with a car driven by James Webb Sr., 49, of Memphis, Tenn., at 7:35 p.m. Saturday on Highway 60 one and one- half miles east of Wyatt.

Webb also received minor injuries, as did his son, James Webb Jr., 14, Martha Webb, 49, and Otis Jordan, 28, of Earle, Ark.

The accident occurred when the Stevens car ran off the road onto a gravel shoulder and back on the highway across the centerline and ran head on into the Webb car. Both cars then ran down an embankment.

The injured were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Leon Garner, 17, of Steele received minor injuries at 12:30 p.m. Saturday on a gravel road three miles east of Gobler when his car ran into a ditch after being struck by another car.

A passenger in the Garner car, Samuel Flowers, 15, of Steele also suffered minor injuries. Both were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

A pedestrian, Terry Everett, 17, of Malden, suffered minor injuries when a car driven by David Varvell, 18, of Malden struck him as he was standing on the shoulder of a gravel road three miles west of Malden at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff.

The first U.S.-British checkers competition was held in Boston in 1905 Britain won 73 games to 34, with 284 games declared a draw.

Cape firm votes down union

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Employes of Missouri Dry Dock and Repair, 500 Aquamsi, Thursday rejected District 9, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO of St. Louis, as their bargaining agent in an election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board.

C. W. Rushing, spokesman for the company, said the vote was 43 to 16 against union representation. Three votes were challenged, he said, but were an insufficient amount to affect the outcome of the election.

Voting were production workers, welders, fitters, burners, laborers, truck drivers and others. It was the fourth time employes have rejected union representation.

Supervising the election was Donald E. Gardiner of the NLRB office in St. Louis. Forrest W. Brandon, also of St. Louis, was union representative.

Coats admitted to hospital

CHAFFEE — Police Chief Jimmy Dale Coats was admitted Friday to Chaffee General Hospital for observaton and tests after he became ill Thursday.
